

clude a recurrence of existing conditions.

The committee has authority to collect money to do its work and to add to its membership. It was also instructed to report from time to time to the main body of citizens. The resolution was presented by Mr. Strawn, who also appointed the executive committee. The committee is to meet next Monday noon at the Midway club.

School Figures Under Fire.

A number of comments and suggestions came from various persons at the conference on different phases of the financial struggle. Probably the most embarrassing came from Miss Margaret Haley of the Teachers' Federation and Mrs. Harvey A. Tyler, chairman of the school committee of the Woman's City Club. Both questioned the board of education's estimate of needs for the remainder of this year, as submitted by Mr. Strawn.

Of the $4,500,000 deemed necessary to finish the year the school board asked $4,000,000.

"The school board does not need $4,000,000 for salaries," said Mr. Tyler. "About $2,500,000 would be sufficient. I attend all of their meetings, and their budget is padded. If they would turn out, but they would not require a continuance of their $1.47 tax rate."

Miss Haley Opens Attack.

"They do not need $4,000,000 for salaries, nor could they spend $3,000,000 for that purpose," said Miss Haley. "They do not need more than $2,500,000. Misrepresentation of pertinent facts by public officials is more to blame for the present situation than anything else."

Mr. Strawn knows that the school officials made statements in Springfield which did not stand up. The budget for the year was made public or accessible to the teachers for the first time today, and the year is almost over. They make statements which we must take to verify or refute. Some time back the board made a representation which was $4,000,000 from the truth."

Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank observed that the private citizens now have the whip hand. She went on: "I think that we should insist upon an investigation going on with the reason. If proper methods were applied, perhaps the tax rate might be cut. It is the usual view that every department is overmanned except the police and fire departments."

New Tax System Urged.

Mrs. Mabel Heinicke urged a new tax system.

Victor Olander expressed a different attitude. He was a member of the legislative tax commission which revealed much of the fraud in the old valuations. He said:

"Our problem has been stated by Mr. Strawn, but I am a little confused as to what our problem is. The public has been given the impression that the extravagance, mismanagement of public funds, the waste of money, are the causes of our ills. The people now will not permit a bond issue for anything, regardless of its merits. That has gone too far. Not every public expenditure is a waste, nor are all officials and employees dishonest. But there is no discrimination between the honest and dishonest. There is some good government, there is hope in the situation. We are approaching a danger point. We are playing with fire."

"With all of the crime and other conditions it is dangerous to be talking about cutting the police and fire forces. The policeman who shoots it out with a criminal in the alley should not be classed among the dishonest. He is rendering us service."

Dennis Sutherland of the Civic Federation said that the idea of cutting the police and fire forces originated with the aldermen.

Oliver Realty Men's Views.

Graham Aldis, a member of the new executive committee, came to the rescue committee with a written statement which he said represented the views of the real estate men. After asserting that real estate pays over 80 per cent of the money spent by the local government, Mr. Aldis submitted the following:

"1. That before any plans for emergency public financing are determined all the facts that taxpayers are entitled to know should be ascertained and made public. These facts should include the actual fiscal condition of the principal local governments, the causes of such condition, the amount of funds now available, and the approximate dates on which the several governments will be entirely out of funds for salaries and other current expenditures."

"2. If these facts clearly indicate

County Budget of $46,177,729 Is Passed; Officials, Employees Voted 10 Months' Pay

Worshipful attended the passage yesterday of the annual budget of the Cook county board.

When it was all over the county commissioners by a vote of 11 to 3 had placed all county employees, including themselves, and excluding only the fifty judges of the County courts, on a basis whereby they would receive ten months' salary for a year's work.

The cut in salaries amounts to $1,478,000. Anton J. Cermak, president of the board, stated that under the terms of the appropriations, department heads in the county offices may save the two months' pay for most of their employees if they will cut down their staffs so that the funds appropriated will be sufficient to give the employees left on the rolls a full year's pay. There is no reason for any of the lower paid employees to lose any salary if the department heads adopt this plan, Mr. Cermak said.

Vote Against Cuts.

Commissioner Francis Boutell and Joseph Penn Carolan voted against the salary reductions. Commissioner John Gibson did not appear at all.

Commissioner Frank J. Wilson, after a tirade, bolted the meeting.

The salary cut as put through will make State's Attorney Swanson, Coroner E. J. Sawyer, Sheriff Traeger, Recorder Smith, Treasurer Harding, all members of the boards of assessors and review, the clerks of the courts, County Clerk Switzer, and other elected officials take the same two months' pay as is meted out to their employees and the county commissioners themselves.

Boutell attempted to put through a resolution whereby the 10 month plan would be abandoned if financial relief was provided by the legislature, and in this he was joined by Commissioner Louis Nettelhorst. Both are followers of Edward J. Brundage.

Resolution Is Defeated.

County Attorney Hayden Bell stated the resolution could have no effect whatever, and it was voted down, 10 to 3. Boutell had threatened to vote against the budget if his resolution failed, and when it lost he carried out his threat. Nettelhorst voted for the budget, although ten votes necessary for its passage were obtained without his support.

The total amount of the county's 1930 budget is $46,177,729. This is compared with $41,949,549 for 1929, but many circumstances arising from the noncollection of taxes this year make the comparison improper.

Debits unpaid last year because no taxes were collected, amounting to $7,036,615, and bond and interest payments amounting to $1,437,710, unpaid last year, were included in this year's budget as reappropriations, according to J. L. Jacobs, county efficiency engineer. Mr. Jacobs said these two items, totaling $8,474,325, properly should be deducted from the total appropriations for comparison with the last year, which would indicate net appropriations for 1930 of $37,703,404.

In addition to the salary cut, several other decreases in appropriations were made which are indicated in the following table:

	1929.	1930.
General supplies.....	$1,442,000	$1,385,000
Light.....	478,000	500,000
Firearms and repairs.....	142,000	50,000
Hospital nursing.....	1,234,000	1,000,000
Maternity.....	1,600,000	600,000
January fund.....	900,000	600,000

Several increases were voted, including one for election costs, from $200,000 in 1929 to $250,000 in 1930, this being due to the coming general elections.

The salaries of the judges, nearly all of whom in interviews had protested that they would not accept cuts, were maintained on a full year's basis "for practical reasons."

These "practical reasons" were advanced by Commissioner Boutell, who pointed out that if there was to be litigation against the county because of the cuts the chances of success before judges whose own purses had suffered thereby would be worse than slim.

Carolans, Cermak in Tilt.

The chief battle of the day was between Commissioner Carolan and President Cermak, and it broke just as the vote was being taken on the first item in the budget. This provided that the commissioners' own salaries be reduced, and on the roll call Carolan voted "no."

The record shows Commissioner Carolan as voting against a decrease in his own salary," declared Cermak. "He is never on the job, but since he feels he is worth so much, I now move to amend the budget to pay him a full twelve months' salary."

Carolans, flushed, shouted back: "Why don't you get the state's attorney, who seems to be the sixteenth member of this board, in here, and you'll have another vote!"

"It's too bad," retorted Cermak, "that your sister was fired from the state's attorney's pay roll."

"There will be another state's attorney in office within six months who'll make you take that back," Carolan exclaimed.

"Takes Nothing Back."

"I'll take nothing back," shouted Cermak. "You're too dumb to know what you're talking about."

"Lakeland assumed that State's Attorney Swanson had called him in," he tried to intimidate me into going along with the other burglars on this budget, but I told him to go home. He is a scoundrel. I mean when he said there would be a new state's attorney in six months, Carolan said:

"I stand by what I said. I have a lot of stuff here." And he pointed to his brief case.

Five commissioners wanted to give the judges the same reduction as other employees. These were Buse, Kris, Metzger, Nettelhorst, and Schmidt. Five others, Boutell, Karanagh, Newby, Whelan, and Wilson, wanted to pay the judges for a full year. President Cermak was called on to cast the deciding vote, and he voted for the full year's pay for the judges, which later was put into the budget.

On 10 Month Basis.

Recorder Clayton Smith had two weeks ago voluntarily cut his force by 40 employees, and President Cermak suggested his staff be put on an 11 month basis. The rest of the board, by vote of 10 to 2, voted to put the recorder's office on the 10 month basis.

President Cermak said he would assume no responsibility for cutting the staff of jail guards with the attendant risk of a jail break. At first he was disposed to put these employees on a full time basis, so that no cuts would be made in the jail staff. Then he stated that the judges of the Criminal court were organizing to speed up the trials of jail prisoners, so that the number of prisoners would be greatly lessened, and a corresponding number of guards might be let out. So the same 10 month plan was put through, with the provision that in case of emergency, additional funds would be supplied for jail guards.

President Cermak and Commissioner Boutell clashed when the latter presented his resolution attempting to provide for canceling the 10 month plan if new funds were made available.

Clashes with Boutell.

"This is just a four flush," declared Cermak. "You know it doesn't mean a thing and you're putting it in here for political effect."

"Yes, and I might say you were four flushing yourself when you went down to the legislature and asked for referendum on our tax increases which would pay the cost of the reassessment ordered by the state," retorted Boutell.

"If you mean that to criticize me," said Cermak, "I admit it. I'm boasting of it. I refused to take any of the taxpayers' money without their consent."

Answering Boutell's assertion that the lower waged employees of the county, 1,000 of whom get less than $125 a month, would suffer unjustly through the 10 month plan, Commissioner Newby, chairman of the finance committee, stated that this would not be the case.

"We have adopted this plan with the understanding that it means a net out in personnel by each department head," Newby said. "He must cut his staff so that the employees who remain in his office will get twelve months' pay. The only reason we have taken this course is that the judges fixing the number of employees in the fee offices refused to make the cuts we recommended."

Despite the remonstrances, a majority of the committee directed Commissioner Russell to establish the most efficient working arrangement he can on the basis of an appropriation of $14,702,713, a cut of $2,444,081 from his appropriation of this year. That reduction, as outlined by the committee, means the elimination of 6 deputy commissioners, 2 captains, 28 lieutenants, 130 sergeants, 1,225 patrolmen, 15 policemen, 19 matrons, 4 lieutenants of detectives, 12 dog catchers, and 3 mechanics.

Two other city departments, law and the board of local improvements, suffered a similar fate at the hands of the aldermen and were requested to return to the committee a program within the amount announced as the limit of their appropriations.

"The lack of defense in suits against the city will cost five times the $150,000 that you have cut out of the law department budget," James W. Breen, first assistant corporation counsel, told the aldermen. "If you take off only $150,000 we can perform our work next year efficiently, but if you insist upon the larger cut I will be back here for additional funds."

The 1929 appropriation for the corporation counsel was $1,022,440, which officials of the city and county realize the situation and promise their earnest cooperation with the citizens in the solution of the problem."

Speaking of causes for the present predicament, Mr. Strawn's statement refers to the reassessment, and then says:

"There are other reasons which are more potential and which are the growth of a vicious custom, which has grown up for many years, of anticipating our revenue too far in advance. This has encouraged and condoned extravagance, pay rolling and other evils, resulting in the imposition upon our citizens of floating debts totaling about $270,000,000, a large part of which is evidenced by tax anticipation warrants issued against taxes for the years of 1928 and 1929."

"It is futile to relieve the present situation unless this vicious practice is stopped and laws are passed providing for a prompt, orderly and equitable assessment of taxes, and definite checks and controls are established to prevent extravagant expenditures of the people's money."

Need Funds in Two Weeks.

In his typewritten statement Mr. Strawn presented the immediate situation as exceedingly pressing.

"It seems obvious," he said, "that unless funds come from some source within the next two weeks many of the necessary and vital departments of the county and city, such as the hospitals, schools, police, and fire departments, will be severely embarrassed, and perhaps cease to function."

"The lives and property of our citizens must be conserved. The credit of the city must be maintained, and the sanitary district pay roll. I believe that the people have lost confidence in the statements of public officials."

"The situation is so bad that a bond issue cannot be had for any purpose. Until some one outside of the public officials makes a statement which the public believes there cannot be much progress toward a permanent financial plan. The situation is beyond politics. Each politician is attempting to play his own game but this financial situation needs the aid of citizens."

RUSSELL WARNS AGAINST SLASH IN POLICE FORCE

Influx of Crooks Likely, He Tells Aldermen.

Commissioner of Police Russell told the council finance committee yesterday that the dismissal of 1,433 men from the police department might start a gathering of crooks from all over the country. This was his chief protest against the plan to pull the city out of debt by discharging policemen.

"The police force is inadequate," said the commissioner, "and these cuts would make it hopelessly so. Chicago needs more police protection, not less. I am in favor of putting on more policemen and if this financial condition had not come up I would have asked you for five thousand more."

Aldermen Not Surprised.

The conditions predicted by the commissioner if the 1,433 policemen are dismissed were not a surprise to the aldermen, according to their remarks.

"We all know that you can't function properly on the amount we have tentatively appropriated," said Ald. John S. Clark (28th), chairman of the committee. "However, if we make the 1930 appropriation the same as that for this year the city will be unable legally to pay the employees after Oct. 1."

The suggestion of Ald. Thomas Byrne (18th) that the policemen could be paid in scrip after Oct. 1 was rejected by Clark. If the banks will refuse to buy tax anticipation warrants which are a good security, Clark said, they will not purchase scrip.

Opposes 10 Month Plan.

Proposals that the police department be placed on a ten month salary basis, as the county is doing with its employees, were opposed by Ald. Oscar Nelson (46th).

"Such a plan would destroy the morale of the department," he said. "That is equivalent to cutting the salaries of the men and they receive only a few months' pay out of which they must purchase their uniforms and a gun."

"I will not vote for cutting the police force. I would rather pass the hat at a mass meeting in Soldier's field or attempt to get a public subscription list rather than slash the personnel of this department."

Committee Is Adversely.

Despite the remonstrances, a majority of the committee directed Commissioner Russell to establish the most efficient working arrangement he can on the basis of an appropriation of $14,702,713, a cut of $2,444,081 from his appropriation of this year. the committee has reduced to $872,018. The estimate sent to the city controller by the law department was $378,000.

Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, agreed to the committee's cut of $247,337 in his appropriation, but insisted upon doing it in his own way. He was advised to confer with the law department and the committee's financial staff to avoid subjecting the city to suits by employees for additional pay.

"Civil service is the bunk," Faherty shouted at the aldermen. "I have eighty-one persons in my department between the ages of 35 and 45 who are eligible for a pension. The aldermen should adopt an ordinance forcing them to quit at 40, as they only make mistakes that others have to correct."

LIST OF BRITISH IN RHINELAND; FRENCH JUMP IN

WIESBADEN, Germany, Dec. 12.—(Special.)—The British soldiers of the army of occupation arrived on German soil at Wiesbaden, the last of their army of occupation left German soil here. The British soldiers, who have made it their business to keep their occupation as unobtrusive as possible, suddenly disappeared when organizing the last ceremony of their headquarters did not want a flagpole. French General Present.
Thursday at 2 o'clock this afternoon Gen. Guillaumat, commanding the French troops in the Rhineland, and staff and their ladies assembled on the porch of the British headquarters. The British commander, Lieut. Gen. William Thwaites, gave the signal to haul down the flag. Drums beat, the band played, Warrant Officer Saunders, who has had 22 years' service in the army, slowly hauled down the flag from the roof while Mr. Morby took down the small flag near the gate.

Along the flag around his left Gen. Thwaites entered a car with his officers. Slowly it moved down the wide, tree-lined street. Warrant Officer Saunders and Sgt. Morby followed five steps behind the flag and the departing soldiers. In the station French detachments saluted the British flag as it was lowered in the station's hall of the British commander, Lieut. Gen. Thwaites, who was in the days of his glory, the British supreme commander took leave ceremoniously of the French supreme commander and headed a special train for home.

Early this morning, before the flag was hauled down, Gen. Thwaites called on the German authorities and informed the British military cemetery in the care of the Germans and exchanged warm farewell speeches with them.

French Troops Quench Joy.
The colorful celebrations the Germans had planned for the day the last British soldier would leave Wiesbaden were canceled because the Rhineland commission moved from Coblenz to Wiesbaden, bringing close to 400 French soldiers with them, with the possibility of more to come.

A half hour after the British left the French Gen. Guillaumat called on the German high commissioner of the Rhineland and informed him that the British and the occupation zone were now fully under French control.

YOUTH, INJURED, SAVES PAL FROM DEATH BY TRAIN

Although his right arm and right knee cap were fractured, a TRIBUNE newsboy dragged his unconscious companion from certain death on a railroad track four miles west of Waukegan last evening.

Lester Thurnwell, 15 years old, 616 Jensen court, Waukegan, was delivering Chicago evening papers along Wisconsin road. With him was Irving Gould, also 15, of 1323 Ash street, Waukegan. Gould delivered the Tribune along the same route. Both are seniors in Waukegan High school.

Approaching the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific tracks in the fog, Thurnwell failed to see a steam shovel in tow of a truck. The shovel grazed the derrick and skidded on the rails, disabled.

A thousand feet up the track came a train. Thurnwell lay with his skull fractured and Gould with his right limb crippled. Gould thrust his able arm under his friend's coat, took hold, and tugged him from the seat. Thurnwell slumped to the ground. The other seized the unconscious youth by his collar and, limping on his fractured knee, dragged him across the rails and tumbled into a ditch. The train demolished the shovel.

Father Says Youth Broke Into Own Home, Robbed It
Albert Nihell, 17 years old, was being sought by the police last night on a charge of breaking into and robbing his own home at 1217 East 44th place. Nihell's father, Fred, told the police that his son returned home on Wednesday evening after an absence of several days and broke into the house yesterday afternoon by jimmying a rear door. Two revolvers, $29 and a suit of clothes belonging to the boy's brother were missing. Albert having left his own suit in his place.

CHICAGO GIRL SEEKS DIVORCE FROM AN ARTIST

Mary Macklin Charges
Popesco Was Cruel.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—How Mary Macklin Popesco, 20-year-old daughter of Charles G. Macklin, art dealer of Chicago and Beverly Hills, married Count Aurelien Popesco, Roumanian portrait artist, resided with him for fourteen days, and returned to her parents to institute annulment action, was revealed tonight with the departure for Chicago of Popesco's attorney, Albert Schacht.

Although Mrs. Popesco filed the annulment and divorce complaint on Aug. 22, it was not revealed that she is the daughter of the man who for forty years has operated galleries throughout the art centers of the world and that Popesco is the artist who has done portraits of Queen Marie of Roumania and one of President Landa of Peru.

Student in Exclusive Schools.
Mrs. Popesco, former student at exclusive schools, charges in her complaint that Popesco treated her cruelly and that he imprisoned her in Chicago when she wanted to return to her parents in Beverly Hills.

The complaint sets forth that the couple was married at the bride's home here on June 8 last; that they left immediately for Chicago, where Popesco asserted he was to paint the portrait of Henry Ford for $5,000; that after their arrival in Chicago Popesco forced his wife to reside in a small hotel room, compelled her to do her own washing and to pay for her own meals in a cheap restaurant, and that he forced her to buy him $100 worth of canvas and painting materials.

Denies All Charges.
Popesco in an answer to his wife's charges, filed by Schacht and his attorney, Milton M. Cohen, on Sept. 25, denies every charge set forth in her complaint.

"I am desperately in love with Mary," Popesco said tonight. "I want to get her back and I know we will be happy."

WITNESSES NAME
EX-REFORMER AS
DEALER IN BOOZE

Testimony naming William Payne, former south side reform organization investigator on trial for liquor conspiracy with Hubert Delaney, former Municipal court bailiff, was given before a jury in Federal Judge Wilkerson's court yesterday. Two witnesses, Joseph Rybowiak, 3200 Main street, and Anton Kamraczewski, 3402 Baker avenue, said Payne and Delaney worked together in an extortion and bootlegging racket.

Rybowiak testified that following his refusal to pay liquor from Delaney after the latter had delivered several cases of alcohol to him, Payne went to him and threatened to "knock him off" if he did not continue his purchases. Kamraczewski said that Payne and Delaney came to his soft drink parlor in an intoxicated condition and demanded liquor from him. Most of the testimony during the morning had implicated only Delaney, several witnesses stating that he had compelled them to buy alcohol from him.

NOT OF 3 SCALDED; DIED.
James Kula, 3 years old, 8438 Durley avenue, died yesterday in his home of wounds suffered on Tuesday when he fell into a tub of boiling water with which his mother, Mrs. Anna Kula, was scrubbing the kitchen floor.

DIED FOR THRILL, SAY PALS OF PARIS YANK WHO TOOK OWN LIFE

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
PARIS, Dec. 12.—The suicide of Harry Crosby of New York has created a tremendous sensation in the Latin quarter and has turned a spotlight on the fantastic life of the left bank of the Seine, where the young poet was a bright figure. As a writer, publisher, Macanese, and an amusing fellow besides, Mr. Crosby just about set the pace for the whole crowd of American expatriates who credit him with having "lived more fully than any man of his generation."

None of his fast moving intimates will believe that a product of Montparnasse like Mr. Crosby would commit suicide for love. They are sure he sought death just to see what it was like. "For Crosby," explained one of them, "life was simply a great amusing adventure and death his most wonderful moment."

Withholding a large inheritance, Mr. Crosby cut, with the aid of his wife who is also a poet, a wide swath for himself. He even entertained the prince of Wales at his country place outside of Paris. His strange existence alone to the realm of the forbidden and his almost religious cultivation of the senses gave rise to the wildest legends. His suicidal impulses and nervous instability date back to the war, when he won the croix de guerre, say his friends. "Transition," a literary quarterly, recently published some of Mr. Crosby's work called "Hall Death," which Eugene Jolas, the editor and a friend of the poet, calls "astounding and frightening."

UPPER NEW YORK HAS BELOW ZERO WEATHER, SNOW

New York, Dec. 12.—(Special.)—New England and upstate New York got a touch of arctic weather today when the cold wave which descended upon these sections late Wednesday sent the thermometer topping below zero. The lowest temperature recorded in New York City was 14 degrees above zero at 5 a. m.

At Worcester, Mass., a woman was frozen to death. Boston reported 7 above zero; South Merrimac, N. H., 12 below; Springfield, Vt., 28 below; and North Londonderry, Vt., 30 below. At South Merrimac, N. H., the cold was so severe schools were ordered closed.

VOLSTEAD SAYS HIS LAW "GOT" BIG BOOTLEGGERS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Andrew J. Volstead, author of the prohibition law, was in Washington today to pay his respects to Walter Newton, a member of the White House secretarial staff.

Questioned as to his views on the progress of the enforcement agencies, Volstead said:

"Well, I guess we have got the big bootleggers. They are all in jail, or busted up or dead."

RETURN OF CHILD KIDNAPED YEAR AGO IS AWAITED

Parents of Melvin Horst Accept Letter's Terms.

BULLETIN.
Orville, Ohio, Dec. 12.—(AP)—At 11:15 tonight Melvin Horst, 4 years old, had not been returned to his home. Orders of County Prosecutor Marion Graven against crowds collecting near the Horst home and against unnecessary automobile traffic past the residence were being violated. The parents were still waiting hopefully for the boy.

Orville, O., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—Late tonight Melvin Horst, 4 years old, had not been returned to the home of his parents, but the village was tense with expectancy.

His return was promised in an anonymous letter received Tuesday by William G. Heesch, editor of the Orville Courier-Crescent, provided that Raymond Horst, father of the missing boy, paid $100 and that authorities would ask no questions or prosecute the person who accomplished the return.

No Letterers on Street.
These conditions have been complied with tonight. At the request of Special County Prosecutor Walter Mougey no one loitered near the Horst home or on the village streets. When, or if, the boy is returned, the parents are to give the required $100 to the bearer, ask no questions and allow the bearer of the boy to go unhampered.

Seen To Be Secluded.
Then they are to lock the door, phone the Courier-Crescent office that the boy is safe and three blasts on the village siren, the same that announced the boy's disappearance Dec. 27, 1928, will herald his return.

Elias Arnold and his son, Arthur, were convicted for kidnapping the boy, but were acquitted at a second trial ordered by the state supreme court.

SUBWAYS SEEN AS NEXT STEP IN TRANSIT PEACE

Maj. Kelker Gives Plan for Loop Route.

Subway construction and financing must be decided by the city council in advance of any agreement on the unification ordinance, the chairman of the transportation committee was informed yesterday by Maj. R. F. Kelker Jr., engineer for the committee. He submitted detailed plans for a subway in State street between Lake street and 5th street, and recommended that the committee approve as a valuation of surface and elevated line properties the amount of $240,442,663.

The unification ordinance now being drafted by your subcommittee must be accompanied by a collateral subway ordinance," Maj. Kelker wrote to Ald. Joseph B. McDonough, chairman of the transportation committee. "Before such a collateral ordinance can be drafted a decision must be reached as to the location, design and character of the subways described in the unification ordinance."

Regarding the plans accompanying the letter Maj. Kelker wrote: "Inasmuch as your committee concluded that the mezzanine concourse should be located immediately below the pavement and that all the underground utilities should be located in suitable galleries or compartments arranged so as not to increase the depth of the mezzanine level below the street surface, I have prepared detailed plans covering typical sections of a subway structure containing these features for both the 100 foot section and the 120 foot section of State street.

These plans cover that portion of State street between Lake and 5th streets and provide space for the permanent location of all the existing underground utility structures as well as space for those which may be required in the future in order to provide for the expansion of activities in the district.

Many Entrances Planned.

"The plans also provide for the construction of subterranean walks in all of the east and west streets and to extend from the west link of Dearborn street to the east line of Wabash avenue. This was done with a view

CLINICS FOR RACIAL GROUPS URGED AS HEART DISEASE AID

Education of the medical profession on heart disease and establishment of clinics among racial groups where language is a barrier to successful treatment were advocated yesterday by Dr. Vane Rawson of the Cook county cardiac clinic. He described the social and economic aspects of heart disease to members of the Chicago Woman's Aid.

"The doctors need more information about the evaluation of cardiac cases," Dr. Rawson said. "We need clinics among racial groups where it is so often difficult and utterly impossible to sell to the patient the ideas needed for his care."

Dr. Rawson said the attitude of usefulness of the cardiac patient must be changed. If the patient feels he has something to give society he will develop an eagerness which will reflect on his well being, the physician stated.

"I cannot understand why most industrial concerns will not take cardiacs," Dr. Rawson continued. "Industry is still discriminating against trivial heart cases, although it has work that would give men a chance to support their families."

to making the mezzanine concourse under State street readily accessible to the maximum number of pedestrians, thus preventing undue congestion at the concourse entrances, which might occur if all entrances were to be placed on State street."

Ald. McDonough, receiving the report, issued a statement showing the chronological progress of the plan and the citizens' transit settlement committee to date. Valuations have been practically approved by the council, he said, in an amount practically the same as stated by Maj. Kelker, and the companies have agreed to spend $200,000,000 in the first ten years after adoption of the unification ordinance.

This ordinance has been drafted and is completed as far as it can be at the present time, and the thing now to be done is to take up the subway questions, he explained. Many of the problems have to do with its financing and he is asking that hearings be started on it at once.

Ask Eitelson for Data.

The city council, at its meeting yesterday, adopted a resolution asking Corporation Counsel Eitelson to advise the aldermen with reference to what has been done so far in fare litigation before the commerce commission and the federal court. Mr. Eitelson was asked also to see whether lower valuations can be established and as to what valuation would need to be fixed in order to furnish a proper basis for three "L" lines, and 25 cents, and if there is any chance of establishing that valuation.

The resolution also asks Eitelson to determine if it is possible for the "L" lines to increase revenue through a revision of their fares. These questions were the result of talks during the meeting by Ald. John A. Massen and Arthur F. Albert.

Brings Up Transfer Issue.

Ald. Massen asked his colleagues to see if there isn't a way by which the commerce commission could compel the issuance of transfers between surface and elevated lines. It was decided that such a move would hamper the work of drafting the unification ordinance, in which there has already been an agreement for universal transfers with a small addition to the fare.

Ald. Massen's contention was that the public should have this benefit as soon as possible, and not have to wait "six months or five years." Ald. Albert wanted an order asking the commerce commission to order immediate action on 115 miles of extensions and feeder bus lines without waiting for the final ordinance.

"I felt when I introduced this resolution that the day was not far off when the aldermen would be blamed for the delay," Ald. Albert declared.

"Only yesterday Samuel Insull, head of the elevated lines, charged that the delay in the traction settlement was due to politics. The whole thing should be aired here in council chambers and not behind closed doors."

Blame $50,000 Fire Loss on Lack of Fire Engine

(Picture on back page.)

The lack of fire equipment in the village of Willow Springs was blamed yesterday for the $50,000 fire which wrecked Same's Grove, a roadside owned by John Same at Willow Springs, on Wednesday night. The village's antiquated fire engine was given to the Boy Scouts two years ago and Willow Springs was forced to call the Summit fire department to fight the blaze, which swept through the two-story frame building on the River Grove road near the Santa Fe railroad tracks.

Trouser Burglar Gets $50 in Highwood Home

While Dr. N. C. Rijard and his family slept in their home in Highwood early yesterday a burglar pried the lock off the rear door, stole the physician's trousers containing $50 and escaped, dropping the trousers in the adjoining yard. Shortly afterwards Mrs. David Olson, wife of the building commissioner of Highwood, was awakened by a prowler, who fled when she screamed.

Dr. Falk's investigations were joint-

During the period of the epidemic came months of proving.

The researches were not concluded until Sept. 30 of this year, but with the characteristic caution of his race, Dr. Falk was unwilling to release his discovery to the world until two and a half more months had passed.

Among the yeoman colleagues who have stood at his side day and night during the trying months were:

R. W. Harrison, Dr. M. A. Jacobson, Miss McKinney, Dr. G. W. Stupp, Dr. E. R. Long, Dr. Bela Halpert, Miss N. E. Stron, C. F. Sutton, and Dr. P. R. Cannon. Later eleven other persons joined the work.

Johns U. of Chicago.

Dr. Falk was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1899. He received his Ph.D. from Yale in 1920 and his Ph.D. from the same school in 1922. He came at once to the biological department of the University of Chicago. In 1925 he married Miss Ruth Hill of Brooklyn. They have two sons.

During his Chicago career he was director of surveys for the city health department, resigning in January, 1928, because—his said in a public statement—"Dr. Kelger's plans and procedures made it impossible for me to remain in the department and retain my self-respect."

The discoverer withdraws from the university in a few days to become associate director of the Rockefeller and Rosenwald foundations' joint staff which is investigating in Washington the cost of medical care.

Prophesied by Hutchins.

His departure fulfills a prophecy made recently by President Robert Maynard Hutchins, who said, "Some of our laboratories are so ramshackle that rats destroy in a night the fruits of six months' work. Owing to intolerable conditions, we are soon to lose one of our greatest researchers."

He meant, it transpired yesterday, Dr. Falk.

Dr. Falk's investigations were jointly financed by the university and the influenza commission founded by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. When he ran out of monkey for inoculation more were bought with funds supplied by Julius Rosenwald. Experiments which, Dr. Falk hopes, will lead to the discovery of an influenza vaccine will be carried on this winter in the army.

"Our search for the influenza microbe seemed almost hopeless," said the young scientist, "until we obtained a particular unnamed microbe from the blood of Miss McKinney, who was just beginning to be ill with influenza. By spraying this microbe into the nose and throat of a monkey a disease was produced that resembled human influenza."

JIM REED CITED FOR TAKING CASE INTO U. S. COURT

Kansas City, Kas., Dec. 12.—(AP)—James A. Reed, former United States senator, Fred Robertson, and other attorneys for the Fire Insurance company of Chicago in litigation over the $10,000,000 Federal Reserve Life Insurance company here, today were ordered to appear Monday in Wyandotte county District court to show cause why they should not be accused and punished for contempt of court.

Reed and his associates were cited by Judge William H. McCamish of the District court. Yesterday the attorneys took the insurance case into federal court.

Judge McCamish in his order alleges that Reed and his associate attorneys were interfering with the execution of orders by the state court by taking the litigation to the federal court.

MACDONALD ASKS SOCIALIZATION OF COAL INDUSTRY

Owners Pool to Be Under National Control.

BY JOHN STEELE

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
LONDON, Dec. 12.—Socialization of the coal industry, with nationally fixed prices, coordinated marketing, and subsidized export trade, is proposed in the government's coal bill, the text of which is published today. The effect of the plan will be the raising of prices to consumers, which in turn will mean dearer gas and electricity.

The bill follows closely on earlier predictions. It provides for a reduction of the working day to seven-and-a-half hours, which is the compromise offered instead of a seven-hour day, which the party promised the miners before election. This means a half hour shorter working day for the Welsh miners, but no difference in Yorkshire, where a seven-and-one-half hour day is already in force.

Will Regulate Output.
National control, which will make possible price fixing and cooperative marketing, is to be administered by a central council of coal owners who will regulate production by allotting quotas to the various mining districts and also fix the minimum price below which the collieries will be forbidden to sell coal under pain of heavy fines.

The board of owners, however, will not have things all their own way, for all their schemes will require the approval of the board of trade. A national committee of investigation is to be established, under which local committees, each composed of one miner, two consumers' representatives and an independent chairman, will continually keep in touch with conditions of the industry and make any necessary complaints to the board of trade, which will be empowered to veto the central council's scheme and put one of its own into effect if the complaint is not satisfactorily rectified.

District production quotas will be established by the central council and will be subdivided by the district council so that each colliery will have an individual quota. In case of dissatisfaction with the established quota a colliery may seek arbitration.

Coal Levy Made Optional.

The touchy question of a national levy on all coal produced for the purpose of subsidizing the export trade is solved by making the levy permissible but not compulsory. The central council is empowered to collect a levy in proportion to the production of the different districts for bolstering up the export trade when it seems advisable. The labor government's situation over the coal bill, on which the second reading and debate comes up next week, is daily becoming more critical. Following yesterday's decision of the liberals to oppose the bill the conservative opposition decided today to fight the measure. Both sections of the opposition agree it is unfair to make the consumer pay for

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Buck, whose home at 5338 Kenmore avenue was visited by robbers while they and their guests were playing cards.

Robbery Unsolved

Summerville police, failing to uncover clues in the robbery of Donald M. Buck and his wife in their home at 5338 Kenmore avenue late Wednesday night, relinquished the investigation to the pawnshop detail last night.

The Bucks and their guests, Miss Alice Byrnes and George Babel, were playing bridge when the doorbell rang. Four men walked in, displayed pistols, and robbed Buck of $225 and his wife of diamond rings valued at $1,000.

As the robbers backed out the door Buck made a bid to buy back one of the jewelry articles, a $2,000 platinum ring given Mrs. Buck by her late father-in-law, Niels Buck. The robbers politely declined, advising Buck to visit pawnshops and dicker with the pawnbroker in whose possession he found the ring.

the subsidy to stimulate the export trade.

The idea of a levy is not pleasant to the Yorkshire mines, which produce coal for home consumption and do not like the idea of contributing to a pool which will be used to help out the South Wales export trade. But the government points out that the coal export has fallen from a peak of $2,000,000 tons a year to $500,000 and prosperity in the coal industry is impossible until the export trade improves.

MUELLER HURLS ULTIMATUM AT REICHSTAG FOES

Demands Confidence Vote on Finance Program.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

BERLIN, Dec. 12.—Chancellor Mueller today told the reichstag that the government must insist on a vote of confidence and approval of the cabinet's financial plans. The cabinet has lately been under severe criticism for its financial program. Finance Minister Rudolph Hilferding particularly when he was branded as a lax economist by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the reichsbank. In a recent memorandum. The chancellor made it plain that the cabinet would not merely resign if the vote of confidence was not passed, but that, on the authority of President Hindenburg, the reichstag would be dissolved and new elections take place.

The vote of confidence, said the chancellor, would enable the government to go to The Hague for the final reparations settlement early in January. The vote in the reichstag is to be taken on Saturday.

Admits Vast Deficit.
The chancellor made no bones about "the calamitous condition of German finances." "The total deficit is slightly more than $400,000,000," he said. The government proposes to make this up with short term credits from the reichsbank, American bankers, from the railroads, the postoffice and the agent general for reparations. But

FILL COMMITTEE TO QUIZ PASCHEN ON CUNEO TOWER

Ald. Thomas Byrne (19th) and John A. Hoellen (47th) were named by Mayor Thompson yesterday as members of a committee to investigate the refusal of Building Commissioner Paschen to revoke the permit of John F. Cuneo for the construction of a sixty-story tower at Randolph street and Michigan avenue. The council has ordered the revocation several times.

The two aldermen were named to take the places of Ald. Joseph H. Smith (32d) and James G. Coyle (17th), who resigned on the ground that they are members of the council building committee. The third member of the committee, which is to investigate, also, the passage of the so-called Cuneo amendment to the zoning code, is Jacob M. Arvey (34th).

Force Jeweler to Open

Safe, Take $1,000 in Gems

Joseph A. Aumert 7823 Carpenter street, a jeweler, was robbed of jewelry valued at $1,000 and $80 in cash last night by two men who forced him at the point of revolvers to open a safe in his store at 6225 South Halsted street. The robbers fled through a rear door which they compelled Aumert to open.

after all these routine possibilities are exhausted a shortage of $79,000,000 is still starting the government in the lurch, he said, making it impossible for the government to fulfill its obligations at the end of the year.

Chancellor Mueller assured the reichstag that if it gives the cabinet the vote of confidence it is asking for, and if it promises to pass immediately two tax increases, the cabinet will be able to borrow for a short time the money it needs until Jan. 1.

$25,000,000 Tax Boost.

Chancellor Mueller is asking for an increase in the tobacco tax of $2,000,000 and an increase in the dues payable by the citizens on the jobsite insurance, which is to yield an increase of $23,000,000 starting Jan. 1. The government believes that these sums will be sufficient security for the short term loans until the final acceptance of the Young plan, through which Germany will save $22,000,000 a year.

The funds from the monopoly granted the Swedish match interests will also aid in the crisis.

Chancellor Mueller's plea failed to move Dr. Schacht. He announced that he would not approve the credit of $95,000,000 which the German government is seeking from American bankers unless the national revenue was increased by $119,000,000 more. It is said that the American firm concerned will not advance the treasury loan sought unless it bears Dr. Schacht's approval.

INVESTORS HUNT "26 PER CENT" HUCKINS, SON

Note Overdue and Neither Can Be Found.

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 12.—(Special)—The financial scheme of George E. Huckins of Milwaukee, Wis., who has been in the city since he was a child, and who is now a local man, and which was due on Nov. 15, still remains unpaid in the bank of Hancock at Hancock, Wis., for the reason there is not enough money on hand to pay it. An officer of the bank made this admission over the telephone this afternoon. He said Huckins had an account there but there was only a small sum in it. Neither George E. Huckins nor his son, Elmer E. Huckins, who is associated with his father in the scheme which pays anywhere from 26 to 32 per cent interest, could be found here today. At the home of the son it was variously reported today that he was in the east and that he was ill, but late this afternoon his chauffeur said Huckins and his wife were out of town and would not return for two weeks. He is known to have been here yesterday and to have consulted with his attorney, Walter J. Barngrover. His partner in the cigar business, Charles Nagus, also is said to have been in conference with the younger Huckins this week, but he has been absent from his usual haunts. Attorney is Silent.

Barngrover declines to discuss the matter. It was reported Huckins had turned over the Bunney baseball club, of which he was the sole owner, to Barngrover, but the attorney refused to either deny or affirm the report.

Two of the "investors" who would like to see the Huckins it was said here, are William Speas, an executive of the ball club, who is reported to have invested his $15,000 life savings in the scheme, and also Fred Leiser of Dubuque, part owner of the Mississippi Valley league club in that city. Interest was due several local "investors" on Dec. 8, but so far they have not been paid. The Huckins are known to have withdrawn about $250,000 from local banks in the last two weeks, and the money is reported to have been sent to Wisconsin to pay dissatisfied investors.

Business Never Explained.

The nature of the Huckins business never has been disclosed to their investors. They have said they were cigar dealers, buying cigar seconds from large factories throughout the country, but the factories have denied they had any dealings with either member of the family.

The federal government tried to delve into the affairs of the father and son at Milwaukee several months ago on the grounds of using the mails to defraud, but the case was dismissed. Wisconsin state authorities now are making an investigation to determine if they paid their income tax, and also if their Wisconsin investors paid taxes on their profits. This case has been continued several times.

Young Huckins has persistently refused to discuss the nature of his business with newspaper men, but has said that it was so simple "that it would make you laugh if I explained it."

The younger Huckins owns expensive automobiles and his daughter is a student at Northwestern university. He and his father are reported to be worth close to a million dollars. The elder Huckins has a summer home near Hancock, Wis., set in the midst of a palatial estate, and is said to be interested in race horses.

Mr. Hillison has characterized her suit as a shakedown.

"I have love letters, and many of them, to prove my statements," Mrs. Roth declared. "Twelve years ago I met Mr. Hillison in a restaurant, where he was celebrating a business success. He was introduced to me. It was an affair of love at first sight. He installed me in an apartment and gave me $500 a month for my support. He introduced me to his friends as his future wife, and I never knew that he was married until two years ago. He promised to get a divorce. Now he is trying to cast me aside. He denies that he ever met me. Well, the love letters will make interesting reading."

THE TRUTH ABOUT CANDY

Candy is perishable, and cannot be shipped all over the country from one factory. The finer the candy the more perishable it is. Page & Shaw candies are unique in being cooked at low temperatures and made of peculiarly wholesome materials, so invalids and children can eat them freely. Page & Shaw is the only concern operating on a zone system with its own shops and work rooms on both sides of the Atlantic and clear across this continent.

TRANSFER SYSTEM

Page & Shaw has an unique transfer system, whereby your order to deliver candy anywhere on this continent, or abroad, is forwarded to the local Page & Shaw branch or agency, which delivers the candy fresh and in perfect condition. The order has to do the traveling, rather than the candy.

THE ART OF GIVING

A gift should bring satisfaction twice, to him that gives, and him that receives. Its merit must be known to both. Page & Shaw Candies have been famous for nearly fifty years because they possess that charm of flavor which only master craftsmen, using the world's finest materials, can produce. Everywhere, here and abroad, a box of Page & Shaw's carries with it the prestige of quality. It stands pre-eminent the world over. It fits the Art of Giving.

MONGOLS QUIT CHINESE RULE TO SET UP REPUBLIC

Plan Government Along Soviet Lines.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
PEKING, Dec. 12.—Consular dispatches from Harbin confirm reports that the young Mongol party has established a Mongol republic in the Barga district of north Manchuria with Harbin as its capital. The Mongols are preparing a declaration of independence from China and the establishment of a government on soviet principles.

The significance of this movement lies in the fact that Barga contains an important section of the Chinese Eastern railway, including coal mines, chief source of fuel for the eastern line, and a link of the trans-Siberian route.

Moscow Supports Mongols.
The young Mongols have attempted several revolts against the Chinese during the last three years, which were forcibly checked, but the Manchurian authorities are reported to be helpless to move against the revolt at the present time.

China Seeks Rebels' Arrests.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
SHANGHAI, Dec. 12.—The National government executive committee this afternoon voted to expel from the Kuomintang National party and issue arrest warrants for several leaders of the left wing faction, whose complicity in various revolts is alleged to be established.

They are: Wang Ching-wai, elected chairman at the second Kuomintang congress and later superseded by the convention of the so-called illegal congress, by which the present government was established; Hsia Tse, Chu Cheng, and Hsu Tsung-chi.

The act indicates the hope of compromising with the opposition has been abandoned and China's determination to stamp out its internal foes. The situation is generally shifting to Nanking. Confidence has been restored by the decisive defeat of the "Ironside" rebels in their attack on Canton.

Government troops in Kwangtung have retaken the towns of Bunkai, Kwokai, Wangtambui, Tatang, and Paknai. Reports state that casualties to both sides totaled approximately 7,000, with about 5,000 killed in yesterday's fighting.

Japanese Consulate Bombed.
TOKIO, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Bombing of the Japanese consulate at Manchouli, Manchuria, by Russian troops operating against Chinese about Nov. 20, was reported today in a Harbin dispatch to the Rengo News agency. Despite censorship by Russian troops at Manchouli, there have been reports that several Japanese were killed and that a Japanese hotel had been destroyed.

Set Up Republic

Mongols have set up their own republic in northern Manchuria. Shaded portion shows Barga district, where Mongols have quit Chinese rule. The city of Harbin has been chosen as the capital.

Kiangsi province, concerning whom nothing has been learned since their telegram of Nov. 29 saying, "Reds have captured the cities about Kanchow and the situation is serious." Communist or Red armies at that time were reported to have engaged in wholesale murder and looting.

OBSERVER CAR IS SUSPENDED FROM AIRSHIP

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—An observation control car for dirigibles which can be suspended in the air hundreds of feet below the flying airship has been developed by the army corps, it was announced by the war department today. The use of such a car permits the dirigible to fly in or above the clouds, where it is hidden from the ground, while the observer in the car directs the airship's flight.

A long cable is used to lower or raise the observation car. A telephone wire built into the cable permits voice communication between the observer and the ship.

West Plains, Mo., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Mrs. Laura James Trimmer, 45 years old, and her son, Sylvester James, 24, both of Pomona, Mo., twelve miles northwest of here, today confessed to the murder of H. D. Green, that they murdered Mrs. Trimmer's father-in-law, E. E. Trimmer, 55 years old, who died mysteriously at his home in Pomona Tuesday night. Mrs. Trimmer and her son admitted they poisoned Trimmer to get his money and his property, which he had promised to leave Mrs. Trimmer and her husband, Charles Trimmer, if they would care for him until his death.

Young James said he and his mother went to Springfield, Mo., more than a week ago and purchased the strychnine. Part of the poison was placed in a poached egg which James said was fed to Trimmer Tuesday night.

HINT BRUNDAGE
MAY ENTER N
LINEUP OF G. O.

County Republican C
to Meet Tomorrow

BY PARKE BROWN

Predictions that Edward J. Brundage, attorney general, will coope the task of reorganizing the county Republican committee special meeting tomorrow in the St. Bernard were heard from sources that are considerable.

Mr. Brundage said he was in a position to make a statement on the subject, but admitted that he had been approached to him and that under consideration. From sources came reports that he is in conference with the reorganizing committee and that, although they are interrupted by other matters, progress had been made to what is believed that an agreement reached.

Snow Slated for Chairman
Until now the job of reorganizing has been under the leadership of W. Snow, vice chairman of the public committee, who is expected to be elected chairman at tomorrow's meeting. He is the south side. He has had the active cooperation of Charles V. Barrett of the west side and if the former attorney comes into the combination reorganizing the north side it will be hereafter because of the group lineup as the Snow-Barrett organization.

The former attorney general had not been closely associated with the reorganizing for some time, disavowing any connection with the November judicial campaign, pledged themselves to a policy of reflection of the sitting judge means of a coalition ticket, a operation broken up by a Danish alliance. In the Brundage had launched the plan's ticket and efforts to disqualify between that what was left of the Republican failed.

One Branch to Be Healed
But it is reported now the bitterness grew out of that a has largely disappeared and chief branch to be healed is developed between the Brundage side and the Crowe-Galpin committee dictatorship that is passed into history.

At the height of his power State's Attorney Crowe sought means at his command to win Brundage organization. He saw own ward bosses in the Brundage and named hundreds played there, with instruction west the north side from the control. Many of those employed are still fighting the Brundage, and it is understood the attorney general insists that to enter into the reorganizing there must be a definite show his allies workers will not be his own workers in his own.

If an agreement is reached him immediately it is possible Brundage man, probably the

WINT BRUNDAGE MAY ENTER NEW LINEUP OF G. O. P.

County Republican Chiefs
to Meet Tomorrow.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Predictions that Edward J. Brundage, former attorney general, and his wife will cooperate in the task of reorganizing the Cook county Republican committee at its annual meeting tomorrow in the Hotel Sherman have been heard yesterday from sources that are considered reliable.

Mr. Brundage said he was not yet in a position to make a statement on the subject, but admitted that it had been broached to him and that it was under consideration. From other sources came reports that he had been in conference with the reconstructionists and that, although they had been interrupted by other matters, enough progress had been made to warrant a belief that an agreement will be reached.

Now Stated for Chairman.

Until now the job of reorganization has been under the leadership of E. W. Snow, vice chairman of the Republican committee, who is slated to be elected chairman at tomorrow's meeting. He is the south side leader. He has had the active cooperation of Charles Y. Barrett of the west side, and if the former attorney general comes into the combination representing the north side it will be classified as the Snow-Barrett-Brundage organization.

The former attorney general, who had not been closely associated with them for some time, disagreed completely with Snow and Barrett in the November judicial campaign. They pledged themselves to a policy for the selection of the sitting judges by means of a coalition ticket, a plan of operation broken up by a Cermak-Denness alliance. In the meantime Brundage had launched the "People's" ticket and efforts to develop a situation between that slate and that was left of the Republican ticket.

One Branch to Be Healed.

But it is reported now that what Brundage saw out of that situation was largely disappeared and that the chief branch to be healed is one that developed between the Brundage north side and the Crowe-Galpin county committee dictatorship that now has been used in history.

At the height of his power former state attorney general sought by all means at his command to wreck the Brundage organization. He named his own ward bosses in the Brundage territory and named hundreds of employees there, with instructions to wreck the north side from Brundage control. Many of those employees, it is said, are still fighting the Brundage men, and it is understood the former attorney general insists that he is to enter into the reorganization plan there must be a definite showing that his allies' workers will not be fighting his own workers in his own territory. If an agreement is reached with him immediately it is possible that a Brundage man, probably Thomas O.

Wallace, clerk of the Circuit court, will be named to succeed Snow as vice chairman in the event of the latter's elevation to the chairmanship which is considered certain. In the event that the negotiations are not closed before tomorrow's meeting the election of a vice chairman may be postponed until a later meeting.

World Court Issues Subsidies.

Earlier insistence by some of the reconstructionists that the rehabilitated committee at once adopt resolutions condemning the world court and demanding that the two United States senators from Illinois vote against that tribunal have subsided materially because of the news that the senate probably will not be called upon to ratify the Hoover program until next winter.

Opponents of the resolution plan insist that such a step would be considered an endorsement of the past actions of the county committee under its former leadership and would produce a "same old stuff" charge. They argue that at this time they must concentrate on putting their house in order, must give their first attention to the local election, and let national issues be taken up when the question of endorsing state candidates is formally acted upon.

It is predicted that because of this issue as well as the natural lineup the reorganized committee will be inclined to support Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick in her candidacy against United States Senator Denness. But the leaders in charge of the movement say they realize their first job is to set up a county and sanitary district ticket that will arouse public confidence. After some difficulty in learning his address, Vice Chairman Snow has wired to Speaker David E. Shanahan at a southern resort urging him to accept the chairmanship of a citizens' committee to take an active part in the coming campaign. It is doubted, however, whether a reply will be received in time for tomorrow's meeting and the belief was expressed that the den of the legislature will want to have more information than he now has before he reaches a decision. He is not scheduled to return to Chicago until Dec. 21.

GRUNDY SEATED AMID SHOWER OF SENATE "BRICKS"

Smiles While Radicals Denounce Him.

said that Mr. Grundy "has a contempt for the constitution of the United States and a perverted mind, but every state should be entitled to select its own representatives, even though they have peculiar mental quirks."

Senator Thomas D. Schall (Rep., Minn.), the blind senator who favored the seating of Vare, accused his colleagues of having paved the way for the seating of a man "who was responsible for spending three times as much as Mr. Vare."

Grundy smiles in stern. Mr. Grundy, 67 years old, white haired and with an amiability which has weathered the storms of more than 30 years of tariff lobbying in Washington, remained unruffled throughout the proceedings. The torrent of abuse which was heaped upon him did not appear to disturb his serenity. He frequently smiled as a particularly savage taunt was hurled in his direction.

When Mr. Grundy first came on the senate floor, accompanied by Senator David A. Reed (Rep., Pa.), the latter seated himself on the center aisle to be ready to lead his new colleague to the rostrum to take the oath. Mr. Grundy sat next to him in the seat of Senator Norris. Presently Senator Norris appeared. Mr. Grundy arose and with apparent cordiality, shook hands with the Nebraska senator, who, a little later, was to assail him. Mr. Grundy offered to move elsewhere, but Senator Norris insisted that he keep the seat.

Dorah Holds Self Aloof. Next to Mr. Grundy was Senator William E. Borah (Rep., Idaho), to whom he had directed attention in testimony before the lobby committee as a representative of one of the so-called "backward" states. Senator Borah appeared to hold himself aloof and gave no sign of having met the gentleman before.

After it was all over, Mr. Grundy seemed as happy as if he had been ushered into office as a conquering hero. It is his first public office, except membership on the town council of his home city of Bristol, Pa., where he has served almost continuously since 1896.

Mr. Grundy was asked if he intends to reply to his senatorial critics. He replied in the negative.

"The senators acted in their line of duty," said Mr. Grundy, "and they did what they felt was the right thing to do. It was their responsibility."

Stands by What He Said. Questioned as to whether he has changed his position on the subject of "backward" states, Mr. Grundy said that "what was said is in the record."

Asked if he thought that some states should not have senators, he said that "it is the constitution and we are all for the constitution." Mr. Grundy said that he saw no reason why he should refrain from voting during consideration of the tariff bill. It so happened that when he first appeared on the floor Senator Thomas J. Walsh (Dem., Mont.) was in the midst of a denunciation of a rise in prices on wool yarn which he credited to Mr. Grundy's activity.

Quaker, but He Takes Oath. As a Quaker, Mr. Grundy might have elected to affirm his allegiance to the constitution instead of subscribing to the usual oath. He said that he would have been glad to follow the Quaker custom, but he had had enough controversy for one day and did not care to question the procedure.

In taking the oath, Mr. Grundy advanced to the rostrum with Senator Reed. He subscribed to the oath as administered by Senator George H. Moses (Rep., N. H.) and then signed his name on the record of senators as required.

The resolution offered by Senator Vare set forth that the senate had denied a seat to Mr. Vare after it had been shown that more than $75,000 had been expended in his behalf and that in the same primary there was expended more than $1,000,000 for the ticket on which Gov. Fisher was running.

Here's Nye's Resolution. "Whereas, the aforementioned resolution, of the aforementioned sum of $1,000,000, was raised and contributed by Joseph Grundy, the aforementioned appointee of Gov. Fisher, and

VARE HAS RELAPSE; HIS DOCTOR BLAMES 'WASHINGTON EVENTS'

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—William E. Vare, denied a seat in the United States senate last week, suffered a relapse at Atlantic City today from the paralytic stroke which he suffered in August, 1928, and from which he has never entirely recovered. Members of his family were plainly anxious tonight over his condition.

Miss Beatrice Vare said that her father was "very ill," but reports as to the nature of his illness were vague until the arrival of Dr. Ellwood R. Kirby, who had been summoned from Philadelphia at Mr. Vare's orders. After an examination of the patient Dr. Kirby said:

"Mr. Vare is suffering only from extreme fatigue. It is more or less a reaction from affairs at Washington, and the long automobile ride to Lancaster last Tuesday to attend the funeral of Congressman Grist."

large sums of money to secure nomination is contrary to sound public policy, harmful to the dignity and honor of the senate, dangerous to the perpetuity of a free government and destructive of the value and merit of an election.

Senator Robinson, in replying to this argument, said that if carried to its logical conclusion it would be impossible for Gov. Fisher to issue a call for a special election to fill the Vare vacancy and that the people of Pennsylvania would be denied their right to representation in the senate.

Senator Claude A. Swanson (Dem., Va.), who was one of the Democrats who joined with Senator Robinson in know his resolution had no chance of adoption and that he would allow it to be sent to the committee on privileges and elections, Mr. Grundy being permitted, meanwhile, to take the oath.

Senator Samuel M. Shortridge (Rep., Cal.), chairman of the privileges and elections committee, asserted that it was "an idle and futile thing" to send the resolution to his committee, as the action proposed clearly had no legal basis and there was nothing the committee could do about it.

Despite his protests the resolution went to the committee on a motion of Senator Hiram Johnson (Rep., Cal.), which provided for reference of the Grundy credentials and all matters relating thereto, with instructions to submit to the senate a report covering the right of Mr. Grundy to a seat in the senate.

There is no question that the committee will hold that Mr. Grundy's right to his seat cannot be challenged. Submission of the report may lead to further debate.

Cutting Explains Vote for Smith. Senator Cutting recalled that his first speech in the senate was in defense of the right of Frank L. Smith of Illinois to a seat. In explaining why he later voted against Vare and now was seeking to bar Mr. Grundy, Senator Cutting evolved his theory that Gov. Fisher's own election was fraudulent.

Senator Robinson, in replying to this argument, said that if carried to its logical conclusion it would be impossible for Gov. Fisher to issue a call for a special election to fill the Vare vacancy and that the people of Pennsylvania would be denied their right to representation in the senate.

Senator Claude A. Swanson (Dem., Va.), who was one of the Democrats who joined with Senator Robinson in contending that the senate has no right to sit in judgment on the election of a governor, referred to efforts to unseat southern senators following the civil war. The senate, he said, has no more right to exclude the choice of the governor of Pennsylvania than it had to oppose the seating of southern senators in reconstruction days.

Fisher Calls Tariff Big Issue. Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Here's what Gov. John S. Fisher thinks of his appointment of Joseph R. Grundy as the junior senator from Pennsylvania.

"There is no question before the senate of more importance to Pennsylvania at the present time than the tariff. The person most able to carry on the fight for protection of the state's industries is Mr. Grundy."

The governor made the statement upon his arrival at the capital today. On his desk was a pile of congratulatory telegrams on his choice of Mr. Grundy.

Wire Cuts Off Grundy. St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 12.—(AP)—A group of Minnesota Republicans today prepared a telegram to be sent to Vice President Curtis commenting on the appointment of Joseph R. Grundy as senator from Pennsylvania. The telegram said:

"On the swearing in of Joseph R. Grundy we congratulate the senate on having at least one member who is not a jackass."

The reference was to the recent characterization by Senator Moses of Grundy as a "son of a wild jackass."

The telegram was circulated through the state capital for signature of Republicans.

SENATE BOOSTS TARIFF ON WOOL; TAX CUT IS NEXT

Early Action on Reduction Is Predicted.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Further increases in wool tariffs were approved by the senate today before an adjourned to make action on the $100,000,000 income tax reduction resolution possible.

By adjourning instead of recessing the parliamentary situation will be such tomorrow as to permit a motion to be made for consideration of the tax cut proposal without debate. The resolution itself, however, will be open to unlimited discussion. Leaders of both parties predict its early adoption without delaying the tariff measure unduly.

The finance committee Republicans continued today to wear away enough Democrats and Republican independents from wool growing states to put through increases in duties on wool waste, carbonized wool and wool yarns to compensate for the increase previously voted on raw wool from 21 to 24 cents a pound. The only roll call of the day rejected by 45 to 34 an amendment by Senator Hayden (Dem., Ariz.) to restore the existing combination rate of 13 cents a pound and 20 per cent ad valorem on carbonized wool, including tops, not further advanced than roving. The committee rate of 27 cents a pound and 20 per cent was accepted without a record vote.

Arguing for his amendment, Hayden contended that the rate on raw wool was not wholly effective and consequently there was no justification for placing a three or four cent differential above that duty on every other levy in the schedule.

Opposing the amendment, Chairman Smoot of the finance committee asserted that, if adopted, it would "kill the wool industry in the west."

Nine Republican independents and four Democrats joined 31 Republican regulars in voting against the Hayden proposal. Three independents and one regular combined with 30 Democrats in supporting it.

Approval also was given a committee proposal to increase the duty on top, slubbing, roving, and ring waste from 31 cents in the present law and 34 cents in the house bill to 37 cents a pound. The house provided the same rates on these wastes as it did on raw wool.

Killing of Bandit Found Justifiable at Inquest. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide yesterday in the case of Samuel Zito, 1058 North St. Louis avenue, who on Nov. 27 killed George Stober, 40 years old, one of three men who had robbed Zito's wife of three diamond rings.

RIOTING CHARGES TO 49 STRIKERS 6 OUT ON BOND

Leaders Hope to A
Their Recruits

Taylorville, Ill., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Developments stood out today in the turbulent central Illinois mine strike. First was the action of 49 strikers naming Harry Grundy in secretary of the National Miners union charges of inciting a riot and instigating a strike. Grundy late today arrested six men, who were on $1,000 bonds each.

Next was the plan of the National Miners to carry the strike into other mine areas in the state and continue picketing at and at Pana tomorrow. Two were picketed at Pana today after the Pana company "discovered" the strike. The strikers of the National pickets, the strikers augmented by 200 men from Penwell company mine. A was held and the strike at Pana today. The strikers of the United Mine Workers, was picketed at Pana today. The strikers of the United Mine Workers, was picketed at Pana today.

Today had been regarded "a red hour" in the struggle between the strikers and the mine owners. In this area, for hundreds of miners at Auburn to return to work and take steps were necessary to prevent lines of Nationalist pickets from blocking the roads. The strikers immediately ordered the pickets to clear the roads. The strikers immediately ordered the pickets to clear the roads. The strikers immediately ordered the pickets to clear the roads.

RIOTING CHARGED TO 49 STRIKERS; 6 OUT ON BONDS

Leaders Hope to Add to Their Recruits.

Taylorville, Ill., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Two developments stood out today in the turbulent central Illinois mine fields. First was the action of State's Attorney Harry Grundy in securing warrants naming 49 miners, sympathizers of the National Miners union, on charges of inciting a riot and of rioting. Sheriff Dunbar late tonight had arrested six men who were released on $1,500 bonds each.

Next was the plan of the striking National miners to carry the strike into other mine areas in the district and continue picketing at Nokomis and at Pana tomorrow. Two mines were picketed at Pana today and after the Pana company diggers had quit work, but rejected other advances of the National pickets, the strike was augmented by 200 men from the Panwell company mine. A meeting was held and the strike endorsed. Frank Davis, an organizer for the United Mine Workers, was prevented from addressing the meeting.

Miners Plan to Return.
Today had been regarded as the "zero hour" in the struggle for supremacy in this area, for several hundred miners at Auburn had voted to return to work and take whatever steps were necessary to penetrate the lines of Nationalist pickets. This vote was checked by state officials, who immediately ordered the mobilization of two scores of highway patrolmen and instructed the riders to clear the roads of loiterers. Picket lines were dispersed and the miners returning to work did not come in contact with the strikers. The returning miners carried clubs of various descriptions, but serious trouble was averted.

Affidavits Attack Lewis.
Springfield, Ill., Dec. 12.—(AP)—In an attack upon John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, more than 200 affidavits were filed in District court late today by officials of the Illinois district of the union in support of their contentions that Lewis has no right to the office which he now holds.
The documents were introduced in the litigation whereby the Illinois men seek an injunction against the national president to restrain him from interfering in the affairs of the Illinois district. Lewis a short time ago declared the Illinois offices vacant and appointed a provisional cabinet to take over control of the union in this state, but a temporary injunction halted the procedure.

Almost every affidavit contained some charge against Lewis which purported to impugn his good faith, judgment, management and integrity.
More Deputies Authorized.
Boonville, Ind., Dec. 12.—Everything was quiet in the troubled mine area of Warrick county today. The principal development was the meeting of the board of county commissioners, who authorized Sheriff George Ward to employ as many as twenty deputies in any emergency.
Sheriff Ward today began the arrests of sixty-three union miners who are charged with riot. It will require several days to complete the arrests.

SLOT WITNESS WINS DELAY IN GOING TO JAIL

CRIMINAL COURT.
Leonard Fitzgerald, rape, sentenced to 1 year in the penitentiary by Judge Otto Kern.
Paul Krane, attempted burglary, sentenced to 1 to 5 years in the penitentiary by Judge John J. Sullivan.
Walter Brown, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge Harry D. Miller.

The State Supreme court yesterday granted a writ of superadeas to David C. Rockola, state's witness in the slot machine conspiracy trial, who was sentenced to six months in the county jail for contempt of court when he refused to testify on the grounds that he might incriminate himself. Rockola's bond was fixed at $10,000.

A final review of his case by the Supreme court is expected next February.
The illness of Judge John F. McGorty yesterday caused the continuance of the trial of James N. [High-jinks] O'Brien, alleged leader of the slot machine syndicate. O'Brien was scheduled to go on trial on charges of conspiracy, bribery and receiving stolen property, but his case was continued until Tuesday by agreement of the state and the defense. Judge McGorty is ill of influenza and although his condition is not serious, his physician, Dr. Edward M. Brown, ordered him to remain at his home at 228 East 46th street for a few days.

CHURCH, DRAMA SOCIETY THROWS OUT WILL H. HAYS

Film Propaganda Scheme Charged Against Him.

New York, Dec. 12.—(Special.)—Will H. Hays, president, and Carl E. Milliken, former governor of Maine, now general secretary of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, have been removed from the board of directors of the Church and Drama association, of which the Rev. Dr. S. Parker Cadman is president. It was learned today.

The action was taken at a recent meeting and suppressed by officials of the association. Called at his home tonight, George Reid Andrews, executive secretary of the association, admitted the two motion picture executives had been removed. Pressed for the reason, he said the board of directors had "demanded it was not to have representatives of the motion picture industry on the board."

An Independent Group.
The Church and Drama association is an outgrowth of three organizations which merged in September into the present association. The central body was launched in 1924 by the federal council of churches, and although it has become an independent group, it is affiliated with the council by reason of an interlocking directorate which includes Dr. Cadman, Samuel Caverly, and Dr. Charles MacFarland, general secretaries.

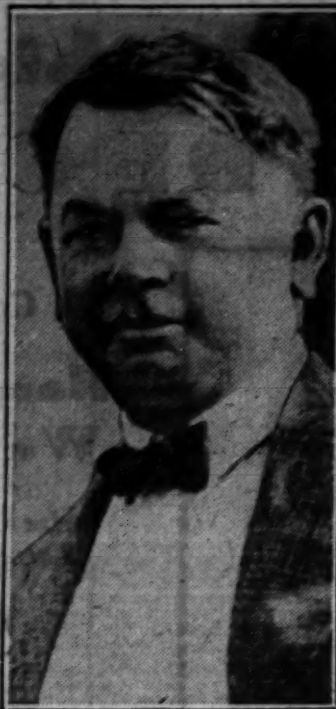

Although Mr. Andrews would not admit there were other reasons for the removal, it was learned from a member of the association close to its activities that Mr. Hays had attempted to draw the Church and Drama organization into a film propaganda scheme. Mr. Hays' plan, it was learned, was to send out publicity and propaganda material from his own office on the association's letterheads. This was looked upon as a result of the expulsion of Mr. Hays and Mr. Milliken.

Control of Church.
Following William C. Redfield's resignation as chairman of the federal council's newly organized motion picture commission, it was pointed out that the removal of Mr. Hays and Mr. Milliken was significant. It had been reported that Mr. Redfield, who was secretary of commerce under President Wilson, resigned because Mr. Hays had attempted to control the churches through the commission.

Among the directors of the Church and Drama association are John W. Davis, honorary president; Bishop William T. Manning, head of the Episcopal church of New York; Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, Chancellor Elmer Ellsworth Brown of New York university; Prof. William Lyons Phelps of Yale; Otto H. Kahn, Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, president of the Greater New York Federation of Churches; Felix Warburg, and Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson.

Rumors that revelations concerning the activities of the Hays organization in religious groups will be made following a meeting of the executive committee of the Motion Picture commission at 3:15 p. m. tomorrow were heard from several sources.

WIDOW DEFENDS SELF AND CHILD IN ARNOLD CASE

New York, Dec. 12.—(Special.)—In defense of her own and her daughter's name, Mrs. Margaret M. Grenshaw West today took the witness stand before Supreme Court Justice McCook and jury. She denied both categorically and in detail that there had ever been affectionate scenes between herself or Martha, her 13 year old daughter, and Ray H. Arnold, millionaire investment broker who is being sued for divorce.

Mrs. West, a widow, who gave her age as 41, spoke in a low, soft voice and surprised the court room by announcing that, besides a bachelor of arts degree from Vassar, she held the highest degree in law, doctor of jurisprudence, granted to her by the University of Southern California.

On Best of Terms.
"We were on the best of terms," said the witness, "all of the Arnolds and myself, even including William, the son."

"Did you ever have breakfast in bed, or did you ever see your daughter reading in bed with Mr. Arnold?" asked Kenneth Walker, the witness' counsel.

"Never," she replied.
Q.—Has Mr. Arnold ever gone about in the presence of yourself or your daughter in a condition of undress, in his nightgown? A.—Never.

Q.—Were you or Martha ever in a condition of undress in Mr. Arnold's presence anywhere at any time? A.—Never.

Counsel then led Mrs. West to a description of her various business relations with Arnold. Mrs. Arnold charges that her husband organized the Newport Engineering corporation, a screen to hide alleged intimate relations with Mrs. West.

Becomes Vice President.
"Brookfarm, the Crestwood home in which I live," the witness explained, "is the property of the Newport company. Some time after I came from Europe in 1925, after placing Martha in the Bodine school in London, I accepted the office of vice president in the Newport corporation, of which Mr. Stumm, Mrs. Arnold's brother, was president. Mr. Arnold held all the stock. I received $200 a month, the use of Brookfarm, which was a remodeled gatehouse, and the use also of an automobile which belongs to the company."

"As it was in connection with the business of that company that you frequently met Mr. Arnold at Brookfarm and he sometimes spent the night there?" asked Mr. Walker.
"If he spent the night in Brookfarm either Martha or my friends were present."

Charges Are Denied.
Q.—Did you ever occupy the same bed with Mr. Arnold in that house, or did Martha? A.—Never.

The Brookfarm house, Mrs. West told the jury, was so cold during the Christmas holidays of 1925 that she moved to Belora Villa, at Mrs. Arnold's invitation, and remained there over the holidays. It was on this occasion, witnesses for Mrs. Arnold had testified, that she was seen in dishevelment with Arnold, and Martha was found in bed with the broker, he denying and she reading from a book of poetry.

ROBS BAKERY, KIDNAPS GIRL, PAYS WAY HOME

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 12.—(P)—Missing from Denison, Ia., since early tonight when her employer returned to his bakery to find her gone and the cash register emptied of $60, Miss Irene Hintz, 19, Sunday school teacher, was found here four hours later when she told of having been kidnapped by a holding man, who forced her to accompany him to this city.

The girl appealed to the Travelers' Aid here after the bandit had forced her to drive to Omaha, where he bought her a meal and a return railroad ticket.

Miss Hintz said the robber marched her two blocks from the bakery to his automobile. Outside the town the girl asked to be released.
"Shut up," the man ordered.
"You're going by with me."

FEDERAL JAIL JAMMED, SUPERINTENDENT

More and Bigger Needed, He

[Chicago Tribune Press Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—]Partly because of the law and similar government prisons are twice as many inmates built to accommodate, the superintendent of federal radio audience tonight. The Atlanta penitentiary had capacity of 1,152 and questionable practice of or more in a cell it might comfortably 1,713 people. Mr. Bates now has 1,460 prisoners. Leavenworth penitentiary has a normal capacity 2,733 prisoners. The released, is that prison "overwhelmed with the ing and feeding twice rates" as practicable. "It is perhaps idle upon the reasons for the increase in federal crime, superintendent continued. Known that recently the a transference of many the state to the federal. The narcotic act, the Mann white slave act have equally increased federal crime."

More Money Up.
Mr. Bates heartily endorsed recently made by Attorney General William for bigger appropriations and bigger penitentiaries. Other means of relief were development of a system, transfer of drug special institutions, and rehabilitation work in. To accomplish these things congress must launch upon an expanded penal provide "more intelligence, more equipment, and, therefore, more. Superintendent Bates emphatically on record furnishing employment to inmates to make him pay care as far as possible. Favors Prison Work is the best way

FEDERAL JAILS JAMMED, SAYS SUPERINTENDENT

More and Bigger Prisons Needed, He Says.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—Partly because the prohibition law and similar legislation all government prisons are jammed with more than 100,000 inmates, they were built to accommodate, Sord Bates, superintendent of federal prisons, told a radio audience tonight.

The Atlanta penitentiary has a normal capacity of 1,453 and "with the questionable practice of having two or more in a cell it is overflowing comfortably 1,713 people," Mr. Bates said. It now has 3,400 prisoners. The Leavenworth penitentiary, he said, has a normal capacity of 1,650 and 3,733 prisoners. The jail, he declared, is that prison officials are "overwhelmed with the task of housing and feeding twice as many inmates" as it was designed for.

"It is perhaps idle to speculate upon the reasons for a great increase in federal crime, the prison superintendent continued. It is well known that recently this has been a transference of many cases from the state to the federal government. The narcotic act, the labor legislation, the Dyer automobile act, and the Mann white slave act have tremendously increased federal crime problems."

More Money Up.

Mr. Bates heartily ended the demand recently made by a superior Attorney General William Mitchell, for bigger appropriations build more and bigger penitentiaries.

Other means of relief suggested were development of a probation system, transfer of drug addicts to special institutions, and constructive rehabilitation work in the prisons.

To accomplish these things, he said, congress must launch immediately upon an expanded penal program to provide "more intelligent more patient, more equipment, more personnel, and therefore, more money."

Superintendent Bates at himself emphatically on record favor of furnishing employment to every prison inmate to make him pay for his own care as far as possible.

Favors Prison Work.

"Work is the best solution of the problem," he declared. "It helps reduce the cost of maintaining the problem of rehabilitation. Recent scientific studies have demonstrated that the greatest factor making for successful reform is an ability and willingness on the part of a subject to do a day's work."

"But one industry has been authorized by congress at the Atlanta penitentiary and this gives employment to 800 out of the total of 3,733. Two industries have been authorized at Leavenworth, leaving probably from 1,650 to 3,000 men in either complete or semi-industry at this institution."

"An extension of the state use theory of prison labor, whereby the government puts its inmates at work manufacturing goods for its own consumption, is a perfectly proper and acceptable solution of the prison labor problem, acceptable alike to capital and labor."

Seek to Improve Them.
Discussing his policies with regard to the treatment of prisoners, Supt. Bates said that he advised his wardens not to assume that prisoners are to mollycoddle them, but to endeavor themselves with his ultimate improvement.

"So often we hear a specious cry," he said, "and I have no doubt many of you have echoed it in your own hearts: 'We have spent too much time on the criminal; let's have some sympathy for his victim.' It is my contention that the more we change the criminal into a law abiding citizen and the more through modern and scientific methods we reduce the number of criminals, the more real sympathy we are showing for the unfortunate victims."

The probation system, after fifty years of administration in the states, has demonstrated its importance as a necessary feature in a federal penal program, Mr. Bates contended.

"At least two, THREE AND FIVE."

"St. Louis, Dec. 12.—(Special.)—Warrants charging violation of the laws were issued today against Mrs. Randolph and Mrs. Frank of St. Louis. They were arrested for violating the laws of the state of Missouri by selling and distributing 250 plates of whiskey was confiscated."

AUBURN PRISON IS COMBED FOR CONVICTS' GUNS

Auburn, N. Y., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—

Except for redoubtable guards on the walls about the silent grounds, cessation of all shopwork and exercise routine and a tense atmosphere of vigilance and distrust all about the place, conditions in Auburn state prison outwardly were "back to normal" today.

All the known ringmasters of yesterday's rioting who survived the gunfire of state troops and police either were in the hospital or in solitary confinement, and the rest of the prisoners, more than 1,200, were locked in their cells. The death toll of the rioting reached at least—Prison Keeper George A. Durbin and eight convicts—although the death of one of the four wounded guards was reported hourly.

Search for Weapons.

Meanwhile a search of the prison for hidden arms was begun in a "combing up" campaign. At least ten guns were missing from the prison arsenal this morning, and it was reported on apparently reliable authority that three guns used by the leaders of the rioting here last summer were still missing.

Late tonight officials of the prison announced that four of the missing pistols had been found.

Warden Edgar E. Jennings left the hospital today, although he is still under the care of a physician for the effects of the tear gas fumes in his death for liberty from the main hall, where he was held hostage by the rioters for more than an hour. A report that the warden had resumed command of the prison was officially denied by Commissioner of Correction Raymond P. C. Kish.

At the same time the commissioner let it be known that he is investigating a report that Warden Jennings had been shot and a note while he was being held a prisoner yesterday, saying the state troopers to "give the convicts what they ask."

Speedy Trial Planned.

New York, Dec. 12.—(Special.)—With quiet resumed at Auburn prison, Gov. Roosevelt today took steps to make certain that quick retribution would overtake the convicts who took part in the uprising. The governor announced that he had decided to appoint a special trial term of the Supreme court to sit in Cayuga county to bring to justice the ringleaders of the revolt. Eight of their number are dead, but possibly half a dozen of those that led the riot survive. These undoubtedly will be charged with murder. The governor declared that "death severity" was of urgent need in dealing with the hardened criminals whose guilt, it is expected, will be fully established on trial.

PEACE VICTORY, NEW STYLE.

There has been a growing awareness for some time of the effectiveness with which the Kellogg peace was waged along the Manchurian front. This peace was added a new general to military history, not a study of its campaigns may yet make a minor text. What may have been obscured is the fact that in truth peace, if a Kellogg peace, may have its victories as well as wars.

It was noted at the time when the United States addressed its admonitory note to the conductors of this peace that negotiations for a settlement of the railway dispute which caused the peace to break out had begun. The peace had subordinated itself to the problem. But the reason for the subsidence may have been overlooked. Is it error to perceive that the peace subsided because the Russians had licked the disorganized Chinese into submission? It would seem that the victors by a vigorous application of force had reduced the Chinese to an acceptance of agreements giving the Russians virtually the terms they wanted. It appears that concessions have been made on both sides. They frequently are in the negotiations following what used to be known as war. Sometimes the conqueror is ruthless and the vanquished helpless, but generally it is possible for the side which came out second best to save something out of the wreck.

The Chinese seem to be in position to save face, but this peace was successfully waged by Russia. The victory is being converted in about the fashion that successes of the sort used to be before Kellogg. The Russians want and it is being determined whether the Chinese are well enough liked to bring the peace to an end with terms satisfactory to the winner.

THE NATURALIZATION CEREMONY.

Mr. Konrad Bercevic has prepared for McCall's magazine a criticism of our procedure in initiating immigrants into citizenship. The writer has the authority of personal experience. He was recently naturalized.

Most candidates for citizenship, according to Mr. Bercevic, approach the naturalization ceremony with an almost religious emotion. They come to the federal building in their best clothes. The men are freshly shaved. They are impressed with the states which they are about to receive. They are in a receptive state of mind to hear and to take solemnly instruction in the duties of citizenship.

We have the opportunity then of implanting in the minds of these people the principles and obligations of American citizenship. Churches, colleges, fraternal, fraternal organizations appreciate the value to themselves of the emotions of the candidates for initiation. They make the best of the opportunity and satisfy those emotions with impressive ceremonial, which has real inspirational value.

But Mr. Bercevic says that the American ritual of administering the oath is indifferent. It is a disillusionment to the new citizens. Mr. Bercevic considers his experience typical. On the morning of the initiation a line of candidates was formed in the corridors of the postoffice building. They were policed by guards, one of whom ordered sharply, "You guys keep in line." There was an hour's wait until the crowd was herded into the courtroom, where the women were seated and the men packed together in front of the bar.

"White haired, white mustached, dignified, the judge bowed and sat down. The clerk ordered everybody to raise his right hand. His vulgar, unbecomingly harsh voice enumerated the names of all the princes and potentates in the world to whom allegiance was renounced. He read the oath of allegiance as if it were a hardware advertisement. It did not seem reasonable that one should be asked in such a voice to swear allegiance to a great country. I felt as one who had come to church to hear a grand organ and was made to hear a wretched instrument. It was ugly, impossible, vulgar. Nobody understood what he said. But the judge roared and welcomed us to this country. His voice was more than welcome to my ears."

The impression which Mr. Bercevic creates is that of a Sunday afternoon showup of suspected criminals. It was not a suitable occasion for conferring the responsibilities and privileges of our country upon the candidates. We were cheating ourselves of the opportunity to bring to foreign born men and women the true meaning of the American tradition. Mr. Bercevic does not advocate, and we do not advocate, an extravagant ceremony, but we do not believe that the ceremony may be vastly ennobled without becoming false. The problem of assimilating foreign elements into our population is a distressing enough without aggravating it by chilling the excitement of foreigners at the moment when they become citizens.

MR. GRUNDY TO THE SENATE.

Gov. Fisher of Pennsylvania has given Joseph Grundy the place in the senate which the senators would not allow Mr. Vare to have. Mr. Grundy of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' association has qualified before the senate as a lobbyist, but not of the sort who work the button-holes or appear from around pillars. Mr. Grundy has been a very potentate of lobbyists, really representing himself in his own right.

Only recently he was before the senate lobby investigators who endeavored to confirm their idea that he was a malignant citizen and that his ideas were prejudicial to the common weal. The title was lively, with Mr. Grundy more than holding his own until Senator Caraway tried to force him to name the hayseed senators. Mr. Grundy's inquiries are now his colleagues if, having denied Pennsylvania the privilege of electing a senator, they will grant the governor's right to appoint one. The prediction is that they will, although Senator Nye has said that it must be done over his prostrate, if not lifeless, body. Mr. Nye's friends hope that he will not be too precipitate and that he will not carry his resolution to extremes. Has it ever been suggested that when a senator is mortified by events he could go on a hunger strike? Other people do it. Then, again, the Indiana university boys refused to shave.

It is reasonably expected that Mr. Grundy will be received in the fellowship and will become one of the conscript fathers with whose ways he is venerable in experience. At this writing Mr. Nye is protesting, but there is said to be a feeling in the senate, which may be indicated before this is printed, that virtue has done all that can reasonably be expected of it in the case of this hard boiled state.

A NOVEL PROPOSAL.

The president of the sanitary district, Mr. Elmore, invited the faith of the citizens in his judgment and motives by his recommendation that the Republicans select five competent and fearless business men as candidates for the drainage board. It was an act of courage and a rather exceptional public spirit. If Mr. Elmore uncompromisingly follows up his initiative he will have ignored the expediency of factional politics, which would induce irresolute officials, under the circumstances, to sponsor candidates with notorious records.

We are rarely privileged to receive from men in public office political commitments the spirit of which agrees with the opinion of disinterested and critical private citizens. We have no reason to suspect that Mr. Elmore's judgment of what constitutes a fearless and competent business man is unreliable. The voters will eagerly watch for the candidates who receive Mr. Elmore's approval. We think at the outset that none of the present members of the board who might seek reelection measures up to Mr. Elmore's requirements.

PENALTY FOR BALL JUMPING.

The federal and county prosecutors in Chicago are proposing national and state laws which would declare the forfeiture of ball in felony cases to be an additional felony. The practice of ball jumping is becoming more prevalent among the criminals here. The state's attorney is said to lose on the average of one case each day by the default of criminals and the United States district attorney in Chicago loses five each month.

The plan to increase the punishment for the crime of ball forfeiture is admirable and necessary. It is absurd that persons under indictment should not be liable to greater punishment if they abscond. The financial consequences, even if the criminal conspires with the man who signs his bond, are not grave enough to deter a large number of felons from dodging trial. Particularly is this likely to be true of the most dangerous criminals, the men who are committed to a life of crime, for they have resources through their organization to pay the cost of jumping bail. The surest deterrent is the threat of a double sentence if caught.

The cause of society must possess force to induce the criminal to choose the way of justice instead of to violate the guaranty under which he is at liberty. There should be the choice for the criminal of jumping bail and possibly serving two terms or of defending himself and taking the chance of conviction on only the original charge or charges. With these alternatives students of criminology will agree that justice will be better served and society better protected. We trust that the prosecutors will urge the recommended legislation upon the Illinois assembly and congress.

Editorial of the Day

HOW DRY ARE SOUTHERN "DRY" STATES?

[New York World.]
As to the accuracy of the official figures presented by Dr. Dorn, prohibition commissioner, in his report for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1929, there can be no room for dispute; so far as they go they may be accepted as conclusive evidence as regards actual enforcement of prohibition.
Drawing on this unimpeachable authority, we find that in New York, ranking first in population, with 11,423,000 in 1927, there were 3,265 arrests by federal prohibition officers; in Pennsylvania, second in population, with 5,729,000, 3,474 federal arrests; in Illinois, third in population, with 5,224,000, 3,332 federal arrests; in Texas, fifth in population, with 3,397,000, 1,673 federal arrests; in Kentucky, fifteenth in population, with 2,533,000, 3,943 federal arrests. In other words, there was one federal arrest to every 1,832 persons in New York, as against one arrest to every 468 persons in Kentucky, a rate twice as high in favor of Kentucky.

In the number of distilleries owned by federal officers, Georgia led all the other states, with 2,702. In Tennessee 1,353 distilleries were seized; in Virginia, 1,210; in South Carolina, 732. New York tallied along with only 551. In these southern states, which are proverbially "dry," the distillation and sale of liquor is a profitable business. It is a profitable business, as compared with the meager showing of New York, where the federal enforcement forces are supposed to center their activities.

We even find that in the dry states of Virginia, North and South Carolina, the record of convictions is only 17.7 per cent, and in Georgia and Florida only 13.3 per cent, as compared with 32.7 per cent in the district of southern and eastern New York, embracing New York City and its suburbs.
It is possible that a gross injustice has been done to these southern communities by their representatives in congress in exaggerating their conversion to the principle of abstention from alcoholic beverages prohibited under the constitution and the Volstead act?

COOKING MEATS.

WHEN it is said of meats applied to the albuminous constituents of other foods. The principal need of cooking meat is to destroy bacteria and poisons of various kinds. Among the bacteria which make it dangerous to eat raw meat are those which cause disease in both man and animals, such as tubercle bacilli and typhoid fever. In addition, there is danger from the bacteria which can be implanted by man in the process of handling. The juices of meat make a very good culture media for most bacteria to which man is subject. Finally, there is the danger of eating the bacteria which cause food poisoning of one kind or another.

On the animal parasite side eating raw meat subjects people to the dangers of trichinosis, tapeworm, and some other parasites. Proper cooking is a satisfactory safeguard against all these dangers. In the case of milk about the only cooking required for safety is that which goes by the name of pasteurization. Not even the fact that eggs are indeed a shell makes them safe for eating raw. Avian tubercle bacilli may be within the shell and various other bacilli can penetrate it.

In addition to making meat safe cooking increases its digestibility. This is principally because the fibers in meat are broken up and, thereby, the stomach muscle is relieved of a part of its mechanical work. However, in the main, the cooking process changes the albumins of meat foods into forms which are more digestible. There may be some question on this point as to the albumin of eggs. Some research indicates that raw egg albumin is rather more easily absorbed than is the case with the same albumin cooked; but on that point there is lack of agreement.

The vitamin of meats are fairly stable and are not harmed by cooking provided no soda is added. This does not apply to the scurvy protecting vitamin, but we do not expect to get much of that from the meat elements of our diet. As cooking is of more than one kind, the mineral salts. This should not be if the juices are saved. It certainly is not true when meats are eaten in soups.

AVERAGE WEIGHT OF BABIES.

Mrs. L. E. J. writes:
1. Please advise how much the average male infant weighs at the age of 3 1/2 months.
2. At birth my baby scaled 9 pounds and 12 ounces. How much should he weigh?

REPLY:
1. About 14 1/2 pounds and 2 1/2 inches long.
2. About 16 pounds and 8 ounces now.

DEPENDS ON AMOUNT EATEN.

A reader writes:
1. Are raw vegetables, such as carrots and potatoes, fattening?
2. Is toast fattening?
3. Is any dark bread better than white?

REPLY:
1. Yes, assuming that large quantities are eaten.
2. Yes. It is more fattening than the vegetable required about, largely because it contains less water.
3. No.

BOX WONT STUDY.

Chicago, Dec. 12.—(Legal Friend of the People.)—My son enrolled with a correspondence school for a course of study for a sum of $117, for which I agreed. After $20 had been paid he refused to study further and I stopped making payments. The school has turned the account over to an attorney. Am I justified in not paying the balance?

REPLY:
The more fact that a pupil becomes dissatisfied or unable to take the course does not free him from liability on the tuition contract nor entitles him to recover payments that he has made. He must show some actual defense, such as misrepresentation of contract by the school. He cannot rely on oral representations and understandings not incorporated in writing. The school is ordinarily entitled to recover the agreed tuition. While the pupil is theoretically entitled to credit for the portion of the course he has completed, he is not entitled to a refund of the tuition he has paid unless he can prove that such refund is equitable.

TRIBUTE LAW DEPARTMENT.

NOT SUBJECT FOR DEPORTATION.

Chicago, Dec. 12.—(Legal Friend of the People.)—I, a man entered this country illegally during March, 1924, is subject to deportation? 1. Can he, legally, pay a visit to his wife and children for a period of a year and return? 2. If so, how long?

REPLY:
1. An alien who entered the United States illegally in March, 1924, is not subject to deportation for that reason alone. 2. He cannot make a visit abroad and obtain a return permit. He must, when abroad, obtain either a quota or nonquota visa from an American consulate and pay the required immigration head tax upon his arrival at an immigration port of entry.
S. D. SMITH,
District Director of Immigration.

ESTATE IN PROBATE.

Chicago, Dec. 12.—(Legal Friend of the People.)—Does the law require that an estate remains in probate for a full year when the children are all of age and have assigned their rights over to their mother, the widow? R. E.
The reason for the delay of one year is that a statute allows one year for creditors to file their claims. There is no legal objection to the executor making an earlier distribution if he is willing to run the risk of having to find the money to pay subsequent creditors.

TRIBUTE LAW DEPARTMENT.

EMPLOYMENT OF SCHOOL CHILDREN.

Hoopston, Ill., Dec. 12.—(Legal Friend of the People.)—Is there any law in Illinois that forbids employing a boy on Saturdays and after school hours while he is attending school? 2. If so, the law applies to boys under what age? C. P. T.

REPLY:
1. Yes. 2. Fourteen.

TRIBUTE LAW DEPARTMENT.

LOT OF THE POOR HUSBAND.

Chicago, Dec. 12.—(Legal Friend of the People.)—Is the husband liable for debts contracted by his wife without his knowledge? R. E.
Yes, if they are necessary expenses or family expenses.

TO AN AVIATOR'S BRIDE.

May the god of the winds be good to him
And bring your lover home;
When the wings of the sky are wet and dim
With the gray clouds—tattered foam.

May the god of machines be true to him
And take your lover through
When his motor misses and close and grim
Ahead is a mountain view.

May the God of women be kind to you
And ease the ache in your soul
Should your lover lose somewhere in the blue
And his life be the transport's toll.

MR. GRUNDY, who speaks of our commonwealths out here in the hinterland as the backwoods states, has been named senator from Pennsylvania. The idea is, maybe, to have him handy whenever the senate wants to quiz him about the tariff lobbyists.

ADVICE TO A YOUNG COL. CON.

Biddle Cantor announces he is going to become a columnar conductor for a month. Welcome, Edward; you ought to be able to live through a month of it. It's the second month and the third and the year round that breaks a col. con.'s heart of gold and puts him on the street with a hand organ, a monkey, and a cup. A month, after all, is only four weeks. But that is time enough for them to send you in the old standby—Pulla & Pulla, the dentists out in Iowa. Strong & Manley, the sporting goods firm up in Wisconsin, and the Platt Tire company down at Champaign, Ill. You'll also get the Valve Handle Wheeze as a brand new story and you'll receive one of Ella Wheeler Wilcox's poems with a little note telling you how they just dashed it off and hope you will like it.

You'll be asked to speak free to every club from San Diego to Penobscot because a lot of people there subscribe to the paper; and you'll receive sixty-five manuscripts to read, criticize, and suggest a publisher for. You'll be called up on the telephone for a copy of a joke (though just what the joke is you can't tell, because the joke is from the most element of our day, remember) that you told 25 years ago come this Christmas; and telegraphed that you shouldn't print any contributions, and that no one would read you no matter what you printed. You'll get chain letters, nut letters, sucker letters, and a postcard from Portersville, Idaho, holding you personally responsible for a headline on page four. You'll get eighteen memory books to read and read by registered mail; and five special delivery letters saying that a Clark street laundry sign reads: "Don't kill your wife! Let us do the dirty work."

People whose sense of humor would fit nicely between a grandmother's tongue and the floor will write and tell you that you are a low drunken disgrace and that you drag the crutches from poor lame match girls and beat them to death and that you should be in jail for ninety-nine years, two months, and three weeks. You won't get the enthusiastic hand-clapping, Edward, that you get when you are the rebel who like what you write and take any bow. People who like what you write will laugh and let it go at that, but those who can't see a joke, if it was three times as big as an elephant and walking down the middle of the Boule Mich, escorted by fifteen masked bands, will write in and tell you that you are a lousy sheep and that you are a rebel who like what you don't mind 'em, Edward. It's all in a columnist's day's work. And, anyhow, it's only for a month. Why, Edward, that's hardly time enough for them to tell you about the sign on South Halsted street, "Shoes Shined Inside."

AMRASAADOR CHARLEY DAWES TALKED

to the long distance telephone the other night to friends in Lincoln, Neb. Both phones had to be turned upside down before Charley would say a word.

ANOTHER Most Embarrassing Moment for Sec. Stimson

The thoughtful Chinese yesterday asked the state department to sanction the immediate shipment to China of 200,000 rounds of machine gun ammunition and 50 airplane bombs for immediate use on the rebels around the Hankow. We expect Mr. Stimson will change the order to 200,000 American Beauty roses and 50 pretty bunches of lilies of the valley.

... Can This Be True?

"The cover design reveals Mr. Little seated on a blushing Metrolite horse, which has developed wings and a taste for heavy literature. In the rear third of the book is a photograph of the author, who is to print in a family newspaper. The background is dominated by a couple of purple skyscrapers, which are swaying like reeds in a cyclone of reading matter. ... Having described the scenery, the author has now come to the end of the Linebook. But why bring that up? Every newspaper, bank president, taxi chauffeur, navy officer, magazine, school teacher, typist, captain, lawyer, margin printer, psychanalyst, and shoe polish salesman will have a word to say about the Linebook. It is a book that has seen the light of day. It's like attempting to describe a fire in the town hall of a one-horse village, one which every Tom, Dick, and Harriet has attended in pyjamas."

From "A Columbus Looks at a Columbus," by Gene Morgan in the Chicago Daily News book section.

LAGNAPPE.

OLD ART HIRSHMAN says that the repeated outbreaks and riots show that something is wrong with our prisons. Our guess, Art, would be that the prisoners want out.

WE HAD TO REVISE the national song of a certain state yesterday after news that the situation there had suddenly and dramatically changed. It may be that this new version won't be good very long, but we stand ready to rewrite it at a moment's notice as circumstances may require. For today the song will be rendered thus: Oh, it's I-O-WA! I-O-WA! The Big Ten we assure: Our athletes shall be pure, Oh I-O-WA! I-O-WA! Out where the Big Ten reform grows.

STILL WORKING ON THE STOCKING SHE STARTED 11 YEARS AGO

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 13, 1864.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Lincoln sent to the senate the nomination of David McDonald of Indiana as United States Circuit judge for the district of Indiana to succeed Judge Albert S. White, deceased. It is regarded as one of the best judicial appointments President Lincoln has ever made. James Speed was confirmed by the senate as attorney general of the United States.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Richmond papers of Dec. 10 say that on the previous day Gen. Sherman was within 35 miles of Savannah. The Examiner of the 9th says: "We hope Sherman will attack Savannah, but the hope is faint. When he reaches the neighborhood and gets some clear information as to what Savannah is he will turn his steps in another direction."

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—Milroy attacked Gen. Bates' division of rebels this side of Murfreesboro on Dec. 8 and defeated them, capturing 207 prisoners. Gen. Bates was killed. Gen. Milroy's loss was 51 killed and wounded, and 100 captured. Just before Milroy's attack Buford's rebel cavalry shelled the town and entered it, but he was driven out by Gen. Rous-

NEW YORK—Reports from Gen. Grant's army in front of Petersburg state that a portion of his forces under Gen. Warren moved southward on the Weldon railroad—destination and object unknown. The Petersburg Express says: "The expedition was reported at Front, some 20 miles distant, and still in motion southward. Because of the successes at Stony Creek Grant has probably started out a larger and better equipped body on a similar expedition."

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 13, 1899.

LONDON.—A Shanghai dispatch says: "It is reported on which is believed to be good authority that the Japanese are chartering steamers for transport service and that great activity prevails in Japanese military circles. It is reported that preparations are complete for dispatching a force to Korea, and probably to Manzano, concerning which a dispute recently arose between Japan and Russia. Russia is said to have ordered four cruisers to Manzano." It is known that the car has 75,000 soldiers in East Asia and 25 warships in the Pacific.

LONDON.—Another battle in South Africa, described as a brilliant success, was fought in the vicinity of Ladysmith on Dec. 18. Gen. Gatacre's expeditionary force of 10,000 men fell to the hands of the Boers. The Boers are making it on reduced rations and are still being heavily bombarded by the Boers.

CHICAGO.—Henry G. Miller, one of the old members of the Chicago bar, died at Eureka Springs, Ark., at the age of 74.

CHICAGO.—Miss Caroline Virginia Griffith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Horace Griffith, and Robert James Erskine were married at Grace Episcopal church.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 13, 1919.

CHICAGO.—The state public utility commission rescinded all its fuel conservation rules. The order becomes effective one minute after midnight on Dec. 15. The commissioners decided that Illinois has had more than its share of sacrifices and that to go much further would crush any business.

PARIS.—(By R. E. McCormick.)—If the senate ratifies the peace treaty without requiring the assent of the powers to the Monroe Doctrine it will put our foreign relations in a most dangerous condition.

LONDON.—The capture by the Bolsheviks of Kharkov in southern Russia, which has been one of the bases of Gen. Denikin's army, is announced in a Moscow official dispatch.

CHICAGO.—The marriage was announced of Miss Lucile Dorothy Corbett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Corbett, 5223 Blackstone avenue, to Russell Clemens Parker of Janesville, Wis., which took place last evening at the Cooper-Carlton hotel.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

A MARINE'S VIEW OF HAITI.

JOINT, Ill., Dec. 8.—I wish to protest against the following utterances of Senator William E. Borah, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, which appeared in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE: "The immediate disturbance is symptomatic of the widespread and bitter unrest." He said that "the oppression and cruelty of the government of Haiti is something beyond the power of language to describe."

This is placing the blame on the wrong shoulders, and shows that Senator Borah is not fully familiar with the policies being used in the control of Haiti. The unrest is caused and has always been caused by the anti-occupationists, who are determined to cause as much trouble as possible, due to the fact that they are not allowed to rule Haiti and rob the Haitian people and the government, as they did before 1914, when the United States marines were sent to that country to preserve order.

One cannot write nor talk on the subject of Haiti nor the Haitian without having lived, eaten, slept, and sewed with the Haitians, and seen them with their own eyes, and understood their viewpoint, and by that I do not mean in Fort-au-Prince nor Cape Haitien, nor for two weeks or a year, but back up in the hills, where the real Haitian comes from, and been with them continuously for three years and over.

If it were possible for marines serving in the gendarmerie d'Haiti to talk and write and acquire themselves of such charges as have been made against them, because indirectly they are the ones who in the end are responsible for the governing of Haiti, there would be an entirely different light thrown on the subject.

Since 1914 the Haitian has been able to go to market with his wares, sell for what he can get, and go back to the hills with all of his money in his pocket, except for the small tax placed upon him by the local town government (Haitian) for the privilege of selling in the market place.

More than one Haitian official has told me in all truthfulness, "Take the States (and by that he meant the United States marines) away and we would be back where we were."

Not all of the marines, nor the police in force, passed by the Haitian legislature, at the present time are of the best, but at least there is some measure of happiness and security in the republic.

One might ask, Why the uprising in Aux Cayes? The answer is logical to a certain degree.

A few scorehead Haitians in that town took advantage of the trouble in Port-au-Prince, did a lot of talking, and the result—12 dead. The ring-leaders in Port-au-Prince did the situation got out of hand.

Sensor Borah has not spent enough time in Haiti to speak authoritatively on the subject, and has paid far more attention to the small group of anti-occupationists and the unrest stirred up by them than he has to the great good done to the greater number, name by the foreign control.

U. S. NAVY RAPS PLAN TO ABOLISH ALL BATTLESHIPS

British May Put Hoover in Hole by Proposal.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Abolition of battleships will be strongly opposed by the American navy if any move to eliminate this class of fighting ship is initiated at the approaching five power naval reduction conference in London.

Inquiry following publication in Time magazine of a dispatch from London stating that Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald is planning to propose entire abolition of capital ships at the parley, has revealed that the highest naval officers and officials believe scrapping of all battleships at this time would be a mistake.

Hoover's Attitude Not Revealed.
Just what attitude would be taken by President Hoover and Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson if the British premier goes through with his plan to propose scrapping the dreadnaughts was not made known today.

Indications, however, are that while the Hoover administration would welcome a reduction in the number of battleships, it would frown on any move to scrap them all by the expedient of not replacing the big ships when they become obsolete.

Should such a proposal be made, however, it would place the Hoover administration in something of a hole as this government has said from the beginning of the present negotiations that it would be willing to reduce naval armaments to as great an extent as other nations.

Propaganda Well Circulated.
Since early last summer, when the naval reduction discussion began, a flood of propaganda having as its object the elimination of the capital ship from the world's navies has been broadcast throughout France, Great Britain, and the United States. In this country the national council for the prevention of war, headed by Frederick J. Liberty, its executive secretary, has sent out numerous appeals for the abolition of battleships on the ground of their great cost.

Both the White House and the state department have commented freely on the high cost of the battleship and cited this point as a reason for postponing replacement of existing old ships, but no statements have been made which would indicate the American attitude toward elimination of these vessels altogether.

Backbone of the Fleet.
The present American naval policy, enunciated just a year ago, makes battleships the backbone of the American fleet and pledges the navy department to a policy of building capital ships as fast as they are authorized under the Washington treaty, which permitted construction of two new ships by the United States in 1921.

An indication of the attitude taken by most naval officers is found in a recent article written for a marine publication by Capt. A. H. Van Kuren, naval constructor, and one of the technicians assigned to attend the London conference as an advisor to the American delegation.

"Compare the battleship with other types of fighting ships," he writes. "Light cruisers are not protected efficiently and must seek safety in flight under a variety of circumstances.

"This is even more true of destroyers, whose main protection lies in their speed. The submarine must submerge to avoid gunfire of her enemies.

"Only the battleship is designed to stay and 'take it'."

JAPAN FOR MINIMUM DEFENSE ARMAMENT, PARLEY ENVOYS SAY

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 12.—[AP.]—Outlining Japan's policy for the coming naval disarmament conference in London as a "minimum defense strength" standard, Reijiro Wakatsuki, head of the Japanese delegation to the conference, declared here today that his country proposed "no menace to any one and we want no one to be a menace to our country."

Wakatsuki spoke at a luncheon tendered the delegation by the Japan society and the Seattle Chamber of Commerce.

Admiral Takeshi Takarabe of the imperial Japanese navy, also a delegate, briefly reviewed the cordial relations which have existed between the United States and Japan and expressed hope that the London conference would prove beneficial.

Wakatsuki lauded the Kellogg pact, declaring that reduction, rather than mere limitation of armament, should be the natural outcome of the agreement.

"There is no reason why, by a reduction all around, armaments should not be scaled down to a considerable extent," he said. "If the other participating powers come to such an agreement, Japan stands ready to reduce her naval strength to the extent which will be proportionately necessary."

Wakatsuki previously had stated that Japan would urge retention of the submarine at the London conference because of its effectiveness as a defense weapon.

Prime Minister MacDonald today announced that the house of commons, which adjourns Dec. 24 for the Christmas recess, would have no opportunity of again discussing the business of the naval parley. The commons also reassembles on Jan. 21.

France Alone on Subs.
The London Times today confirmed that Italy has agreed to join America

SIGHT OF GUNS TO GREET DELEGATES TO NAVAL PARLEY

BY JOHN STEELE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
LONDON, Dec. 12.—A warlike atmosphere will greet the five power delegates when they assemble at St. James palace for the naval conference on Jan. 21. Delegates will enter through the armory, on the walls of which are hung weapons of all ages, from the bow and arrow to the modern siege guns. There is a great chance for souvenir hunters, and it is suggested that a grating of steel wire cover the exhibits.

The room to be devoted to the press and telephone exchange is the room in which King Charles I. slept the night before his execution. Next is a large room which was used as a guard room, and which will be devoted to telephone booths. More than 50 of these are now being erected, and it will be possible for continental newspapers to secure leased wires directly into their offices.

Throne Room for Committee.
Uncertainty exists in the matter of cable facilities, as a result of a dispute between the Imperial Communications company, controlling Imperial cable, and American companies for these rights.

While the public plenary sessions of the conference will be held in the house of lords, the full committee meetings, held privately, will be held in Queen Anne's drawing room, the walls of which are decorated with portraits of famous British sea heroes, such as Admirals Nelson, Rodney, and William IV. The throne room will be the committee room and the other rooms will be used for the staff and publicity departments of the delegations.

Prime Minister MacDonald today announced that the house of commons, which adjourns Dec. 24 for the Christmas recess, would have no opportunity of again discussing the business of the naval parley. The commons also reassembles on Jan. 21.

France Alone on Subs.
The London Times today confirmed that Italy has agreed to join America and Great Britain in favor of the abolition of submarines, thus isolating France, which insists submarines are necessary to protect her Mediterranean communications and enable her to bring black troops to Europe. It is also reported here that Japan is willing to agree to anything that suits America and Great Britain, provided it receives a fair ratio in the final adjustment of tonnage.

Premier Mussolini of Italy is reported to have decided that, in the event of an ultimate struggle with France for control of North Africa, or even for a readjustment of the frontiers of France and Italy, it is well to risk something in order to secure the friendship of the two great maritime powers.

No "Fait Accompli."
LONDON, Dec. 12.—[AP.]—Foreign Secretary Henderson tonight assured

France through the French ambassador here that the understanding reached by Prime Minister MacDonald and President Hoover on naval disarmament did not mean that France would be faced with a "fait accompli" at the five power conference in January.

"The understanding which the premier was happily able to make with the President of the United States does not mean that we will go to the conference with any rigid or cut and dried proposals," Mr. Henderson said. "On the contrary we shall try by negotiation and cooperation to bring about the reduction and limitation of armaments, which is in the common interest of us all."

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified crocodile that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, crocodile is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs and colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to crocodile, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the crocodile goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, influenza and minor forms of bronchial irritation, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking course in directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

GIFFORD VISIONS U. S. STRIDING ON TO NEW SUMMITS

Phone Industry to Spend 700 Million in 1930.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, laid it down last night that the telephone industry thinks of the 1930 outlook as attested by the fact it plans to spend 700 million dollars this coming year for extensions and betterments. He addressed the Association of Commerce, at its twenty-fifth anniversary dinner at the Palmer House.

Expounding the philosophy of American civilization, he said the high standard of living and well being for every one are as much a part of democracy as are politics and universal education. That was the keynote of a theme in which he dwelt upon developments in science, natural resources, human relations, the character of America's man power and its organizing ability and imagination.

Advance Is Inevitable.

"Unless the temper and genius of our people are suddenly changed," remarked Mr. Gifford, "unless their perceptions and aspirations are suddenly dulled, continued improvement in the standard of living and in the general welfare of this country is as inevitable as the tide of the ocean." Modern business, he said, is taking responsibility for putting labor saving inventions into operation in such a way as to disturb employment the least, although in the days of laissez-faire an increase in the jobless was regarded as a necessary result of new processes.

Former Presidents Attend.

The silver jubilee dinner was attended by 1,200. Charles Ward Swearingin, president of the Association of Commerce, presided. Among the guests of honor were eleven former presidents of the association. They are:

David B. Farnham, '94; Louis T. Foster, '95; Richard C. Hall, '97; James E. New, '98; Edward M. Wilson, '99; Jackson F. Stone, '00; Harry A. Wheeler, '11; Wm. R. Davies, '14; Howard H. Hill, '15; Frank J. Wilson, '16; John W. O'Leary, '18.

President Hoover sent a telegram congratulating the association on its quarter century birthday and its accomplishments.

Foreign critics and domestic intellectuals who delight to picture America as a land of dollar chains and a nation of machine tenders in a mechanical age and to sketch Uncle Sam as Uncle Shylock standing under three golden balls, were devastated by Mr. Gifford.

"So far as I am aware," he said, "there is no organic law which has prevented other nations from making the same rate of industrial progress as has the United States."

"Many of our foreign friends and some of those in academic circles within our borders are openly critical of certain elements involved in our industrial development. This is sometimes called a mechanized nation, the implication being we are becoming a people of machine tenders—more automations whose individualities are submerged under the passion for standardization."

Best Workmen in World.

"Such a conception is distorted in the extreme. Nowhere in the world is there a more progressive and more skilled body of workers than in this country. Nowhere in the world does the worker need to be more alert and observing. Nowhere does he have as much opportunity for material advancement, for mental development, for recreation and bodily exercise."

"So far as the comforts of life are concerned, perhaps nowhere in the world is there less standardization than here."

"It is, of course, true that large scale industrial operations have demanded the output of large volumes

RUSSIA DECREES JAIL TO VIOLATORS OF LAW BANNING XMAS TREES

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

RIGA, Latvia, Dec. 12.—The sale of Christmas trees, which was forbidden last year in certain Russian cities, is now prohibited throughout Russia. A new decree threatens imprisonment to anybody caught cutting, transporting, or selling fir trees during the Christmas holidays.

The anti-Christmas campaign was begun with a mass meeting held in a number of factories, the workers passing resolutions promising to report for work during the holidays, adopting slogans against Christmas, and condemning the activities of religious sects which are agitating against the effort of the government to abolish Sunday as a holiday by establishing a five day working week.

In Moscow 60 special performances are planned to attract the workers from the churches, and the committee proposes to supplant Christmas with a winter sport carnival featuring skating and ski races.

Products which are uniform in character. But limitations upon styles and varieties have been no more than those dictated by common sense.

Consumer Is Not Limited.

"I am not prepared to concede that the consumer in this country has a more restricted choice as to what he buys—whether it be a motor car or a pair of shoes—than the corresponding consumer in any other country.

"Worship of the almighty dollar as an end in itself is distinctly on the decline, if it ever widely existed. Already the appreciation of business is turning more and more toward those leaders who are wise and constructive rather than ruthless and greedy opportunists, who seek to build fortunes without regard to the ultimate consequences affecting the public welfare."

"Indeed, it is this changing tendency in sentiment which inspires me with absolute faith that our progress in the future will be even more brilliant than in the past."

Systematic planning was dwelt upon by Mr. Gifford—the telephone industry formulates its programs five years into the future.

Plan System in Advance.

"We have found the practice," he said, "has resulted in more stable and economical progress. Planned progress will not only facilitate the anticipation of coming readjustments, but will tend to minimize such temporary fluctuations in the steady rate of business expansion as may occur."

As to science, Mr. Gifford said we are "on the threshold of even greater achievements, with still greater possibilities."

He dwelt upon the increasing trend in industry to put new processes into operation in such a way as to produce the least technological unemployment.

"It is becoming more generally recognized that business has a distinct responsibility in providing that the economic readjustments demanded by industrial progress are effected with the greatest possible ease. Readjustment should not be allowed to generate readjustment."

Olus Telephone Program.

Mr. Gifford illustrated the type of American industrial progress by a reference to the telephone industry.

"The telephone," he said, "was invented by Dr. Alexander Graham Bell only slightly more than fifty years ago. In that short time the telephone business has been so organized and developed here that today practically anybody, anywhere, can talk at any time of the day or night with anybody anywhere else, not only in the United States but in Mexico, Cuba, Canada, and most of Europe."

"The ability to render a service of this magnitude rests upon a nationwide organization, employing over 400,000 American men and women, operating physical properties representing an investment of four billions of dollars which are owned by more than 500,000 stockholders."

$700,000,000 in 1930 Program.

"The progress of the industry has been rapid, steady, continuous. We shall spend over $700,000,000 in 1930 for plant extensions, additions and betterments."

"We are still making constant improvements in scope, speed and accuracy of the service, and the ultimate limits of progress seem as far away as ever. Only a few days ago we inaugurated a new service, telephoning to ships at sea. Insofar as scientific knowledge is concerned, we have already conquered space and time so that it is possible technically to establish instantaneous communication between any two persons anywhere in the world, be either person or both on land, on sea or in the air."

"These developments in the telephone industry have been taking place in other industries."

of Reconstruction.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—An executive committee twenty authorized by the recent business conference was announced today by Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the board of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Included in the list are James S. Thompson, president of Marshall Field & Co., Chicago, and Elias H. Strawn, Chicago attorney and chairman of the board of Montgomery Ward & Co.

The committee is to assume all of activities for stabilization of production, work during the present business emergency in accordance with President Hoover's program. A larger executive committee, which will be named later, will represent the business and may consist of any number. The executive committee will be furnished with analyses of reports made to last week's business conference, which was held at the suggestion of the chamber of commerce and was attended by 400 industrial leaders. A meeting of the committee will be called at an early date.

On Executive Committee.

Other members of the committee include: Owen D. Young, General Electric; Myron C. Taylor, United States Steel; Thomas W. Lamont, Morgan & Co.; Paul Shoup, Southern Pacific; Clarence M. Woolley, American Radiator Corporation; Henry Robinson, Los Angeles banker; W. C. Teague, Standard Oil of New Jersey; Cornelius F. Kelley, Anaconda Copper; L. E. Carpenter, lumber magnate; Pierre R. du Pont, E. I. du Pont & Co.; Lewis E. Fieser, New York banker; George Horace Lorimer, editor; Walter S. Gifford, American Telephone and Telegraph; J. P. ## U. S. COMMERCE GROUP NAMED TO STABILIZE TRADE

Joins Hoover Campaign of Reconstruction.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.) Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—An executive committee of business men authorized by the recent Hoover campaign was appointed today by Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the board of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Included in the list are James Simpson, president of Marshall Field & Co. of Chicago, and Elias H. Strawn, Chicago attorney and chairman of the board of Montgomery Ward & Co.

The committee is to assume charge of activities for stimulation of commerce work during the present business emergency in accordance with President Hoover's program. A general committee, which will be named later, will represent many lines of business and may consist of city men. The executive committee will be furnished with analyses of reports made to last week's business survey conference, which was held under the auspices of the chamber of commerce and was attended by 400 industrial leaders. A meeting of the committee will be called at an early date.

On Executive Committee.

Other members of the committee of city men are:

Allen D. Young, General Electric company; Myron C. Taylor, United States Steel; Thomas W. Lamont, Morgan & Co.; Paul Shoup, Southern Bell; Clarence M. Woolley, American Radiator corporation; Henry M. Johnson, Los Angeles banker; Walter Young, Standard Oil of New Jersey; William F. Kelley, Anaconda Copper; Albert L. Carpenter, lumber manufacturer; Pierre S. du Pont, E. Gifford, American Telephone and Telegraph company; Alvan MacCauley, National Merchants Chamber of Commerce; John G. Lonsdale, president American Authors' association; Stuart W. Cramer, director Cotton Textile Institute; Charles Cheney, president national industrial conference board; and Harry Chandler, Los Angeles publisher.

Barnes Makes Statement.

A preliminary study of the many reports submitted to the national business survey conference, meeting at Washington Dec. 5, indicates that there is nothing to cause further anxiety or hesitation but rather to build confidence in the early stabilization of business activity without hesitating excessive optimism before the close of the test period of the next few months," said Mr. Barnes in announcing appointment of the committee. "Provision for study and comparison of conditions in the various industries through representative trade organizations is being made by the formation of a larger committee comprising competent and recognized leadership in the more important business fields. This committee will be announced later."

Barbary Names "Bookies" After Embezzler Confesses

State's Attorney George D. Carberry announced yesterday that he will file informations against the Elgin bookmakers as a result of admissions made by Edwin Bopp, 40 Cook avenue, Elgin, that he misappropriated $12,500 in Christmas money funds of employees of the Elgin National Watch company. Bopp was treasurer of the Christmas funds and confessed, according to the state's attorney, that he lost the money betting. Bopp is not being prosecuted because of his promise to make restitution.

TWO ARE HELD FOR JURY ACTION ON RAPE CHARGES

Earl Runnels, 26 years old, Hinsdale, attorney boxer, who married the daughter of Nicholas Gille, wealthy Hinsdale contractor, four months ago, was held to the Du Page county grand jury in $25,000 bail yesterday on charges of rape and assault with a pistol. His hearing was before Magistrate Joseph Heiser at West Chicago. The complainant is Miss Ethel Lane, 29 years old, of Geneva. Runnels' father-in-law did not furnish bail. John Lulla, 18 years old, 614 North 19th avenue, Melrose park, was held to the grand jury on a charge of rape by Justice of the Peace George Lee of Maywood last night. Miss May Cusek, 19 years old, 2315 West Walton place, testified Lulla attacked her Saturday night while his car was parked near Maywood. Residents of the neighborhood heard the girl scream and called Maywood police who arrested Lulla. Bond was set at $5,000.

HOTEL ASKS WRIT TO END PICKETING BY JANITOR UNION

The management of the Rokeby hotel, 3331 Rokeby street, petitioned the Superior court yesterday for an injunction to relieve the hotel from picketing by the janitors' union. Since Thanksgiving day, the petition recites, pickets have frequently intercepted deliveries of milk and food to the guests and have prevented delivery of fuel oil to the hotel. An electrically operated oil burner supplied the hotel heat and the management has refused to employ a janitor. The hotel, opened last May, was advised to hire a janitor by John Matias, business agent of the janitors' union, the petition says. "According to the hotel manager, Stanley Ehrman, Matias threatened on five occasions to 'make trouble' unless a janitor was hired. Ehrman was deterred from making complaint earlier by fears of bombing, the petition asserts."

FRIEND VICTOR IN LONG FIGHT ON $40,000 WILL

Daughter's Charge of Forgery Denied.

The purported will of the late John Barnes, 71 year old druggist, challenged as a forgery by his daughter, who was cut off without a cent, was upheld yesterday as genuine by Circuit Judge G. Fred Rush after three years of litigation. The decision, which will be appealed by the daughter, gives Barnes' estate of $40,000 to Miss Olive Morris, 2535 Morse avenue, daughter of an old friend.

Barnes died on Oct. 19, 1926. He had owned a drug store at 43d street and Elmwood avenue and was known in that neighborhood for the vigor with which he defended his ideas. A search failed to reveal a will, and his estate was taken over by the public administrator. No immediate heirs could be traced.

Will Is Produced.
Three months later Miss Morris produced a will which left the estate to her. The will was drawn on Aug. 15, 1917. Both witnesses had died within five years of the signing of the document. Miss Morris, who is 45 years old, said that the will had been mailed to her former address, 6921 Kenwood avenue, at which she had not lived for eleven years, and relayed to her. She explained that the mailing to the old address may have been an oddity of Mr. Barnes.

At the time the will was produced a daughter, Mrs. Jessie Hunt of London, made a claim for the estate through Attorney Charles Goodman and William H. Herbert. Probate Judge Horner held the will was forged.

Call Handwriting Experts.
This decision was appealed to Judge Rush. Two handwriting experts testified that there were twenty-one distinct retouchings of the witnesses' signatures. Both testified that the signatures were the work of one man and were forgeries. The same opinion was expressed by a number of other witnesses.

The signature of Barnes was printed in old English lettering. Attorney Herbert argued that the alleged forger adopted this style to prevent detection. Mrs. William King Morris, 81 year old mother of Miss Morris, declared that Barnes had frequently used such lettering in addressing Christmas presents to her daughter many years ago.

Witnesses for Miss Morris identified the signatures as genuine. Judge Rush held the lettering to be the work of an eccentric man delighting in novelty and ruled the document legal.

CRIMINALLY HUNT IN LAUNDRY.
John Knasm, 28 years old, a steamfitter, of 44th Lawrence avenue, was critically injured yesterday while making repairs in the steam room of the Safety Wash Laundry, 3811 Van Buren street. A no-writing carrier caught his sleeve and hurled him back forward to the concrete floor.

FARM COUPLE BEATEN TO DEATH; FORMER EMPLOYE IS SOUGHT

Muncie, Ind., Dec. 12.—(AP)—The battered bodies of George F. Heath, 70 year old wealthy farmer, and his wife, Elizabeth, 68, were found today in separate bedrooms of their home south of here. They apparently had been clubbed to death Tuesday night.

Authorities, confident that revenge was the motive for the double crime, obtained a warrant in Circuit court this afternoon and deputy sheriffs started for Kentucky, hoping to apprehend a man formerly employed on the Heath dairy farm.

Detectives pointed out that the slayer evidently was acquainted with a vicious German police dog which guarded the home. The elderly couple lived alone.

The Kentuckian is said to have been seen in the vicinity of the Heath home on the night of the murder.

He had been employed by farmers in the neighborhood within recent years.

Gets Life for 30 Cent Theft Under Third Offense Law
Victoria, Tex., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Thomas McGrew began a life sentence today because he stole 30 cents and a pie.

McGrew, a Negro, was tried under the old Texas "repetition offenders" law, which provides a life term for a third felony conviction.

Walker Investigates.
While John C. Plinn, vice president of Pathé, and Henry Lally were being arraigned in Homestead court today on charges of criminal responsibility for the fire and the loss of life, Mayor Walker was looking into the possibility that there has been graft in permitting motion picture studios to violate the law. He ordered a survey of all the motion picture studios in the city and also of all motion picture company premises where films are stored.

"If the investigation which I have ordered develops that there is a general condition of violations such as prevailed in the Pathé studio in Harlem," said the mayor, "I shall personally sit as a committing magistrate in a proceeding which will make a repetition of this tragedy impossible."

Fire Marshal Thomas Brophy reported to Mayor Walker that he had established that the fire was caused by a thick velvet curtain, used to deaden noise in sound studios, coming in contact with a high powered lamp.

Two Are Arrested.
Plinn and Lally were taken into custody to the West 30th street police station early today and arraigned before Magistrate Renaud.

Assistant District Attorney Joseph

Fasciella requested an adjournment for one week in the light of the fact that the police department and the district attorney are engaged in investigations of the fire. There was no objection on the part of counsel for the defendants and Magistrate Renaud adjourned the hearing to Dec. 19. He refused to consider a request for reduction of bail to $10,000 and ordered two new bail bonds for $15,000 each, which were produced after some delay.

GRAFT ALLEGED IN STUDIO FIRE; FILM LAW BROKEN

Walker Wants to Know if Storage Was Illegal.

New York, Dec. 12.—(Special.)—Police Commissioner Whalen's investigation of the fire in the Pathé studio on Tuesday in which ten lives were lost has revealed that at a late hour last night a man, whose identity was concealed, tried to sneak out of the wrecked building with 150 cans of film, raw and developed, the equivalent of 150,000 feet.

Only 5,000 feet of film can be legally kept at one time in a nonfireproof structure such as the Pathé studio, the commissioner stated.

The commissioner is trying to learn who sent the man to the studio on the second night after the fire to remove the incriminating evidence seized upon him and found in the cellar after he had been caught.

Walker Investigates.
While John C. Plinn, vice president of Pathé, and Henry Lally were being arraigned in Homestead court today on charges of criminal responsibility for the fire and the loss of life, Mayor Walker was looking into the possibility that there has been graft in permitting motion picture studios to violate the law. He ordered a survey of all the motion picture studios in the city and also of all motion picture company premises where films are stored.

"If the investigation which I have ordered develops that there is a general condition of violations such as prevailed in the Pathé studio in Harlem," said the mayor, "I shall personally sit as a committing magistrate in a proceeding which will make a repetition of this tragedy impossible."

Fire Marshal Thomas Brophy reported to Mayor Walker that he had established that the fire was caused by a thick velvet curtain, used to deaden noise in sound studios, coming in contact with a high powered lamp.

Two Are Arrested.
Plinn and Lally were taken into custody to the West 30th street police station early today and arraigned before Magistrate Renaud.

Assistant District Attorney Joseph

Fasciella requested an adjournment for one week in the light of the fact that the police department and the district attorney are engaged in investigations of the fire. There was no objection on the part of counsel for the defendants and Magistrate Renaud adjourned the hearing to Dec. 19. He refused to consider a request for reduction of bail to $10,000 and ordered two new bail bonds for $15,000 each, which were produced after some delay.

DELICIOUS thoughts... to be echoed constantly by every woman who finds herself in the midst of the beauty of an Elizabeth Arden Salon. Every article there is something you would adore to possess... something you would be proud to give your dearest friend for Christmas!

There are—first of all—Miss Arden's famous Preparations for the care of the skin... fresh-smelling lotions and velvety creams that so gallantly cheat the calendar. You may select the preparations singly, or you may have them in the completely outfitted travel cases for which Elizabeth Arden is noted.

Miss Arden's four superb perfumes deserve special consideration if you are selecting an important gift. They are charmingly dedicated to human relationships and emotions instead of the usual flowers, and their fragrances are as unusual and beautiful as the thought behind them. They are in square-cut crystal bottles of exquisite simplicity and are named... Mon Amie Elizabeth... L'Amour d'Elizabeth... La Réve d'Elizabeth... La Joie d'Elizabeth.

And there are gorgeous accessories—not too many—fascinating costume jewelry, so exactly right on the velvet and satin and lace tea or dinner pajamas which swing from their hangers and tempt you irresistibly, ravishing lingerie, swanky bags—you could shut your eyes and choose and love the outcome!

The perfect thing is to arrange for a treatment and then "do" your Christmas—a little before the treatment, a little after, with time in between to think and to sum up. Quietly, tranquilly, no noise, no rushing people—happy and secure in the knowledge that any gift from Elizabeth Arden is a gift of distinction.

HOOVER'S FRIEND EXPLAINS SUGAR TARIFF ACTIVITY

Shattuck Denies Plot to Influence President.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—(AP)—A denial that he was retained by Cuban sugar interests because of his friendship with President Hoover was made in a statement issued tonight by Edwin P. Shattuck of New York City.

Referring to reports of testimony before the senate lobby committee by H. C. Lakin, president of the Cuban company, Shattuck said the impression apparently was created "that I was retained because of possible influence I might have with the President."

"Such an impression is untruthful and unfair, both to the President and myself," he said. "I have always been proud of a friendship which arose from a common service in the war, and neither I nor any other friend of the President would attempt to use such a friendship in the manner suggested. Every one who knows

ALFRED E. SMITH MAY GO TO WHITE HOUSE, BUT ONLY FOR LUNCH

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—(AP)—The White House to which the American electorates denied Alfred E. Smith admission a year ago may be opened to him tomorrow by his successful opponent in the campaign.

The former governor of New York has an appointment with Secretary Adams tomorrow and at the White House it was said that he probably would call upon President Hoover and be invited for luncheon. Except for a brief visit the Democratic candidate said Mr. Hoover in Florida before his inauguration the two have not met.

The President knows also that it would defeat its own purpose.

"About a year ago my firm was retained to represent the Cuban sugar interests of American citizens before the committee of congress in respect to the tariff, and I have written briefs and presented their views to the committee as their attorney. Some time after I had presented my brief to the ways and means committee I was asked by my clients to continue my retainer."

"Before the new administration came in I informed Mr. Hoover of my connections so that there would be no misunderstanding. The President did not feel that he had any right to ask me to abandon my clients and that matter ended. I have never sought anything from the President."

The lobby committee at its hearing today further questioned Lakin and produced a letter written by President Machado of Cuba to the sugar men protesting against any immediate increase in the sugar tariff, and adding:

"The damage that we would suffer is so unfounded and so enormous that justification for it could be found only in very grave purposes of international scope obliging a powerful republic to annihilate its small neighbor."

Another letter, written by Lakin last February to Col. J. M. Tarafa, of Cuba, said he had raised a fund of $25,000 "to conduct the fight."

The letter said chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee, urged Lakin to "advertise as widely as possible the desirability of limiting the Philippines to 100,000 tons."

A reference then was made to Secretary Stimson, former governor general of the Philippine islands, who had not at that time become secretary of state. Lakin wrote that he would be able to have a personal talk with Stimson because he had known him intimately for 25 years and that "his wife is a cousin of my wife."

"The contents of the letter," it concluded, "had better be treated by both of us as strictly confidential."

The name of Shattuck was heard frequently in today's testimony. One letter Lakin wrote said, "We are employing a friend of Hoover and really have some hope," while another stated that Shattuck had been "summoned" by Hoover to Miami before the inauguration last March. Lakin testified he had been mistaken about the "summons."

SANTA CLAUS

Whether it's marbles or mumbledepeg, checkers or chess, ping-pong or puzzles, a game is a game to the mind of youth—and one of its chief delights. There can't be too many of them in that enchanting pile under the Christmas tree for either Bill or Mary Jane—and with all the different kinds there are to choose from here, there needn't be any duplicates.

By Christmas night there'll surely be many a family game—for that's one thing that neither Dad nor Mother can resist—and Big Sister and Big Brother usually aren't long in coming round to join. Sometimes it seems as if good old Saint Nick ought to leave the games for these elders, rather than the children, so much do they enjoy them!

Here in TOYLAND you will find almost every kind of game—quiet or active—that you can possibly imagine. Among them are:

- Football, $1.50
- Bean Bag Game, $2
- Baseball, $7.50
- Carom, $5 to $9.50
- Checkers, 50c to $1
- Chess, $1 to $6.50

HOOVER URGED TO PUT DE PRIEST ON HAITI PROBE

Hamilton Fish Suggests Two Negro Names.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—Appointment of Representative Oscar De Priest (Rep., Ill.) as chief of the Negro commission on the proposed Hoover commission for investigating conditions in Haiti was suggested to the President today by Representative Hamilton Fish (Rep., N. Y.).

"I assured President Hoover that I was in entire sympathy with his recommendation for the appointment of a commission to inquire into the occupation and administration of Haiti," Mr. Fish said after a conference with the President. "I recommended that the President appoint at least one well known American Negro on the proposed commission and suggested the names of Emmett J. Scott, secretary and treasurer of the National Commission for the Advancement of Colored People, and Oscar De Priest, both of whom have the confidence of 15,000,000 American citizens."

To Consider Hoover Plan.
Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—69—Chairman Porter of the house foreign affairs committee has called a meeting to consider the resolution to carry out President Hoover's suggestion for a commission to study the Haitian situation. A preliminary meeting is to be held tomorrow and a hearing is planned for Saturday. Representative Wilson, Republican leader, announced that he expected the resolution would be ready for action by the house early next week.

Martial Law Still Rules.
PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The island republic of Haiti, which has furnished for several years one of the most difficult problems of American foreign policy in the West Indies, was less strictly patrolled by American marines and Haitian guards today, but martial law continued in force.

Col. Evans, commanding the national guard, said that he believed martial law would be in force for some time, although he could set no definite term to it. The fact that the presidential elections are coming in April has already set the political pot to boiling and there is a crowded field of candidates. The strike in the schools and the customs service has been checked for the moment.

Arrests still are being made and the curfew law is rigidly enforced. Seventeen Haitians were arrested by the guard last night and released this morning with orders to leave the city.

Marines on the Alert.
Port-au-Prince presented a picture of peace, except for patrols of marines in the streets. Business continued active and there were many people abroad. Six marine airplanes were kept constantly drawn up and ready for flight at Bowen field, and parties of enlisted men were held in readiness at barracks in case of emergency. Thirty-three Haitians, arrested during the early days of the strike, still are being held prisoners out of a total of 145. Some of these are alleged to be the ring leaders in the agitation and are charged with carrying weapons, fomenting trouble, and resisting arrest. They will be tried by the provost.

Patrols of marines and national guards in the interior of the island remained carefully within the bounds of their regular stations, not venturing to arouse ill feeling by formal inspections. The official communiques to marine headquarters reported that the hinterland was quiet.

At Aux Cayes, where a fight last week ended in the killing of 10 natives and the wounding of 24, large patrols of marines and guards were on the alert, but the community was apparently pacified.

3 FACE SENTENCE TODAY IN INDIANA RUM CONSPIRACY
Federal Judge Thomas W. Slick of Hammond, Ind., is expected today to sentence three defendants convicted recently in one of the two liquor conspiracy cases in which 46 residents of Gary, Ind., were indicted. All three of those convicted are men. One is a Gary policeman. Passing of the sentences will close proceedings in connection with the Calumet liquor conspiracy case until Jan. 7 when Mayor Raleigh P. Hale and nearly 800 others, of East Chicago, Ind., are scheduled to go to trial.

South Bend Baker Found Dead in Friend's Home
South Bend, Ind., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—Hans Kraus, 39, president of Matthews Kraus Baking company, was found dead tonight in the kitchen of the home of Henry Green, a friend. Four gas jets were open. Mrs. Green called police who are investigating. Kraus is survived by a widow and several children.

Fat Man Walks Ten Miles
I don't care how fat you are or how much you hate to get out and walk a couple of miles.

If you will take one half a teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning for 30 days—

You will feel so good—so energetic and the urge for activity will be so great that you will immensely enjoy a daily walk of several miles—and lose fat.

Why will Kruschen Salts make this great change for the better in me—it is natural for you to ask.

Because Kruschen is a blend of the 8 essential salts Nature says your body must have to keep every organ, gland and nerve in the body healthily healthy. While you are losing fat you will be getting in energy—in endurance—in action. Your skin will grow clearer and your eyes will sparkle with the good health Kruschen brings.

Don't try one 56c bottle of Kruschen Salts. It will last you 30 days. After you have taken one bottle the old man won't hold you any more—you'll want to be up and doing—you'll enjoy work and active recreation and you'll sleep like a top.

You'll live (at) and probably live years longer. Get Kruschen at any live drug store in America.

RISE THAMES BRINGS RUIN TO ANCIENT MANSION

Toil to Save Antiques from Floods.

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
LONDON, Dec. 12.—Workers are toiling frantically at Sand Lea Court, Datchett, Buckinghamshire, in an attempt to remove all the priceless tapestries, old masters, carpets, and antique furniture from one of England's most beautiful country mansions before the rising waters of the flood bring ruin. There is ten feet of water in the cellar and a rise of six inches more means submerging the first story, which would grievously damage the old castle floors.

Mrs. Albertini, wife of the owner of the mansion, complained bitterly at the inadequacy of flood prevention measures, comparing them unfavorably with those taken in California, where she has also lived.

The Albertinis' troubles are only one case among many. Hundreds of families whose homes do not contain art works of interest to the world, but are nevertheless just as important to themselves, have been driven out by the rising waters of the Thames. More than 100 houses in Wraybury are buried up to the eaves. At Runnymede, where the Magna Charta was signed in 1215, workmen are forced to go to work in boats. The water is five feet deep about Eton college buildings, and the basement of the school and the memorial hall are threatened with destruction. In many places families are marooned and receive food and drinking water only when friendly boats come to serve them.

A repetition of the disastrous floods of last January is expected in London itself. The water is now flowing in the Thames at the same rate as at the time of the 1928 flood. In Chelsea the municipal authorities are erecting temporary barriers along the embankment to protect that part of the city from the expected inundation.

More water has fallen in the last few weeks than before last year's floods, but the summer's drought reduced the Thames to such low levels that the flood is slower in coming. Further storms are forecast.

In some parts of England the rain has not ceased for the last eight days, while, after a single comparatively clear day, this city was struck this morning by the fifth thunder and hail storm within a week. Fifty-five million tons of rain have fallen here since the beginning of the month.

Waukegan City Clerk 23 Years Named Treasurer
James H. Marcellus yesterday resigned as city clerk of Waukegan after serving for 23 years in that office and was appointed city treasurer by Mayor Louis J. Yager, to succeed Perry L. Peterson. Peterson resigned after serving four years as treasurer.

Paul E. Harnschulte, chief bookkeeper in the Waukegan department of accounts and finance, was named city clerk to succeed Marcellus. The changes will become effective on Dec. 16.

Waukegan Flyer Held With Girl Denies Elopement
Denying that he was eloping or that he has a wife in Waukegan, Vernon Ramsey, 23 year old aviation instructor at the Waukegan airport, was being held for department of justice agents yesterday at Denton, Tex., where he was arrested on Tuesday on the request of North Chicago police.

Held with him was Evelyn Miller, 22 years old, pretty Waukegan student flyer, who accompanied Ramsey to Texas in his airplane.

Ramsey was arrested after a warrant charging wife abandonment was sworn out by Ruth Evelyn Ramsey, 21 years old, to whom the pilot was secretly married in Waukegan last March. No charges had been placed against Ramsey and Miss Miller yesterday, although the request from the government indicated that they would be held under the Mann act.

TEACHER HUN
IN AUTO CR
ASKS $100

Sues Fred Mills,
Novelty Comp

Miss Lois Strader, 32, teacher of physical education at Westworth school, yesterday filed a $100,000 damage suit in the court against Fred L. Mills of the Mills Novelty company. Strader charged that she received in an automobile accident a broken back, a fracture of the spine, and internal injuries. The accident occurred when her automobile collided with a car driven by Fred L. Mills at Roosevelt and La Salle on Sept. 25. She has since been confined to her home in the West Lake hotel. Her attorney, A. Fullenkamp, said she was crippled for life.

TEACHER HURT IN AUTO CRASH ASKS $100,000

Sues Fred Mills, Head of Novelty Company.

Miss Lola Strader, 32 years old, teacher of physical education at the Westworth school, yesterday filed a $100,000 damage suit in the Superior court against Fred L. Mills, president of the Mills Novelty company, for injuries received in an auto collision. Mills was one of the defendants in the slot machine conspiracy case, which was dismissed recently.

Miss Strader charges she suffered a broken back, a fracture of the pelvic bone, and internal injuries when her automobile collided with Mills' machine at Roosevelt and Mannheim roads on Sept. 28. She has been confined in the West Lake hospital since the accident. Her attorney, William A. Fullenkamp, said she might be crippled for life.

Two deaths yesterday raised the 1929 Cook county motor toll to $61. The victims:

Stanislaw Pawlik, 13 years old, 2021 South Ashland avenue. Died in the county hospital of injuries incurred when he was struck by an automobile at 21st street and Ashland avenue on Tuesday.

Thodore B. Cole, 45 years old, a watchman. Died in the Chicago Memorial hospital of injuries suffered on Wednesday night when he was struck by an automobile at Drexel boulevard and Brown avenue. The driver, Fred H. Knudsen, 3134 Blackstone avenue, was held.

Identify Auto Victims.

The bodies of three persons killed during the week were identified at the county morgue. They were Mrs. Paulina Koszrak, 23 years old, 1647 West North avenue, struck by a truck at North avenue and Leavitt street Wednesday night; Max Waxman, 40 years old, 3895 Greenleaf street, struck by an automobile at Madison and Rockwell streets, and George Monahan, 50 years old, 3745 West 65th street, fatally injured at 83d street and Hamlin avenue on Tuesday night. Frank Lucas, 46 years old, was probably fatally injured when he was struck by a hit and run motorist at Belvidere and Jackson streets, Waukegan. Lucas is a member of the Third Field artillery at Fort Sheridan.

Boy Killed by Motorist.

Eight year old Robert Young of Indiana Harbor, Ind., died in a Hammond hospital shortly after he was found unconscious in an alley near his home. He had been struck by a motorist. A trail of blood indicated that he had crawled or had been dragged into the alley. An anonymous telephone call notified police of the accident.

Family Sees Dinner Guests Crash to Death in Plane

MILVERTON, Ont., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Louis Ernst, 25, of Mount Forest, Ont., and Frank Sloan of Mount Dennis, Ont., Alersair Limited pilot, were killed today in the crash of their airplane on the farm of George Roe, a mile north of here. The two men were flying to dine with the Roe family. Members of the Roe family watched the plane pass over the house and then heard the noise as it started to fall while a landing was being attempted. Both Ernst and Sloan were dead when they were taken from the machine, the motor of which was buried in the ground.

IF I WERE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

The Tribune invites witty, brief statements describing what you would do if you were President of the United States. The invitation is to Tribune Readers everywhere. Address Government Editor, The Tribune.

Editor: I would prevail upon congress to enact a law especially for Chicago forbidding the bums to park on our beautiful lake front beaches and parks. This, aside from Chicago being called the pineapple city, causes much casual comment from out of town visitors.

A. F. N.,
2406 North Clark street.

Editor: I would not appoint to high office a man from any Republican state that persists in sending to the senate men who are traitors to their party and antagonistic to every constructive move of the President.

A. L. R., Dubuque, Ia.

Editor: If I were President a secretary of sports would be added to my cabinet and the Rev. Westbrook Pegler would be offered the portfolio. His fore and hind sight would make such affairs as the Carnegie report and the Big Nine scandal impossible.—Mr. And.

Editor: I would appoint Senator Hoffman as ambassador to Vatican City, have the prohibition department analyze the alcohol being put into radiators, and force the regular Republicans to cease backing the Democratic symbol on insurgent Republicans as an "appropriate appellation."—T. H. Hall, 1355 Rosedale avenue.

25 Convicts Escape in Mexican Jail Break

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 12.—(AP)—A dispatch to El Universal from Tehuacan, Puebla, today said 25 convicts escaped from the Tehuacan jail after wounding the warden and two jailers. The prisoners broke the doors of the compound and descended on the warden's office. After attacking and wounding the occupants they fled.

ACCUSED KILLERS OF MAN BELIEVED ALIVE FACE TRIAL

Mountain View, Ark., Dec. 12.—(AP)—

A mass of confusing and contradictory statements brought officials and defense attorneys alike to the conclusion tonight it is nothing short of a jury trial would settle the Connie Franklin "murder" case.

Hugh Williamson, prosecuting attorney, said he was prepared to open the trial Monday of the five men charged with torturing and burning Connie Franklin last March.

Defense attorneys were ready to go to trial and prove Connie Franklin is not dead, but is the man who was discovered on a Humphrey, Ark., farm and whose appearance here last Sunday plunged Stone county into a bitter controversy over his identity.

Tiller Rumber, Franklin's former sweetheart, and Reuben Harrell, a deaf mute youth, today said positively for the first time that he was not the Connie Franklin they knew. They previously had said they were uncertain about it.

COP ALLOWED TO KEEP $45,000 IN BIG GRAFT CASE

LONDON, Dec. 12.—(AP)—A sequel to the trials of several west end night club proprietors last January occurred in King's Bench court today when former Police Sergeant George Goddard was successful in retaining about $45,000 of the $62,000 taken from him before conviction. Goddard is serving 18 months imprisonment for his part in the affair, in which Mrs. Kate Mayrick, "night club queen" and mother-in-law of two English peers, also was sentenced.

The crown alleged that the $62,000 came from bribes received by Goddard, who during his 30 years' service on the metropolitan police force spent most of the time watching night clubs. Justice Rowlett held that Goddard was accountable to the crown for only $16,500.

Justice Rowlett said: "Lord Byng [commissioner of metropolitan police] took a great risk. He had no right to retain this money at all."

EMPEROR'S LIFE MAY FIGURE IN ROGERS SUIT

New York, Dec. 12.—(Special)—The private life of the late Emperor Franz Josef of Austria will be dragged forth as a background for the $750,000 conspiracy suit against the bride of Col. Henry H. Rogers, Standard Oil millionaire.

Upon her answer in a preliminary examination, probably to be held next month, to the question whether she told the multi-millionaire before her marriage to him last July that she was the illegitimate daughter of Austria's monarch, will depend the life of the action, it developed today.

For Edward Kora, former secretary to Rogers and complainant in the charges against Rogers' second wife, contends that it was her fear of evidence he had gathered abroad as to her past life and parentage which caused Mrs. Rogers to foment a conspiracy to oust him from his highly remunerative job. She feared, he claimed, that what he knew might precipitate a breach between herself and Rogers.

department, is the logical place to purchase fine diamonds.

Cables from Europe inform us that the London diamond syndicate will not sell any more rough diamonds this year... thereby closing all polishing works until more raw material is available.

All indications point to higher prices for fine diamonds and lower prices for poor goods (not carried by any of the leading jewelers).

If you are contemplating the purchase of diamonds, we sincerely advise an early selection.

PHELAN SIGN

AS WASHINGTON

GRIDIRON COACH

Huskies Hire Purdue Pilot for 4 Years.

Lafayette, Ind., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—Jimmy Phelan, who piloted Purdue to the Big Ten football title this season, announced this afternoon he had signed a four year contract as head coach at the University of Washington at Seattle. While Phelan was disclosing the terms of the contract, it was rumored that he was to receive $10,000 yearly.

While Phelan's announcement came as a complete surprise, his knowledge that he was to leave the coaching reins here was a matter of those who have followed his career as coach of the Huskies.

When questioned as to what would leave Lafayette and Purdue Phelan stated he would not move to the Pacific coast until Feb. 1. He would have his office in good shape by then.

Desires to Return West. Following the announcement of resignation Phelan expressed regret over giving up the post. "I regretted," he said, "leaving the post after eight years of pleasant association with faculty, alumni, and members of the athletic staff and townpeople. I have come to love Lafayette as my real home, and I have been very happy here."

However, I originally came to the Pacific coast and always have had a desire to return to that part of the country. That influenced my decision. My final decision in the matter, however, was based on the opportunity offered at Washington. I thought it took a real tug to pull from the Huskies, but I have decided to leave here.

"I regard this as the most important and hardest decision I ever made," he concluded.

Kellogg Expresses Regret. Members of the Purdue athletic staff, faculty and board of trustees were unanimous in expressing regret over Phelan's proposed departure, though all called attention to the fact that he had received from the Huskies and wished him every success.

"We are, of course, extremely sorry to lose Phelan," said Col. N. A. Kellogg, director of athletics, "for he has done a real piece of work here. I realize that Washington made him an offer that he hardly could afford to spurn, no matter what his ties at Purdue were."

Kellogg made it apparent that Phelan's successor would not be chosen for some time, as President Edward G. Elliott is on the Pacific coast and will not return until after the Christmas holidays.

When asked if Purdue athletic authorities had any man in mind, Kellogg explained that no man had been considered, as he had been here for so long that Phelan would decide to stay at Purdue football head.

To Favor Own Coaches. "However," he said, "just in the normal succession of things, members of our coaching staff naturally will give the preference in picking a new head coach. While others may be considered, our own men, who are familiar with system and have been important factors in Purdue's success of recent years, will be given the edge."

David E. Ross of Lafayette, president of the university board of trustees, said in speaking of Phelan's determination to take the Washington position, "We wish Jimmy every success in his new post. Our associates have been most pleasant and productive. I sincerely hope that he will continue his work in the same successful manner at Washington."

GRID STAR Sought for Theft of Goods Found in His Room

Columbia, Mo., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—Derry of Poplar Bluff, Mo., was back on the 1929 University of Missouri football team and found a player at the University of Arkansas was sought today on a warrant after recovery from Derry of clothing and jewelry valued at $100 from J. Carroll Co. member student.

Deputy Sheriff Charles Whitely found the articles in Derry's room. Officers said the theft occurred last May 26. Articles taken were valued at $125.

IOWA'S BAN ON ATHLETES BARS SIX CAGE MEN

Hawkeyes Accede to Big Nine Ultimatum.

St. Mary's Offers Game

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—St. Mary's college, possessing the most brilliant football record in the far west this year and one of the few teams in the country to complete its schedule without defeat, today started negotiations with the University of Iowa for a home and home engagement. If an agreement can be reached the first game would be played in San Francisco next year.

Iowa City, Ia., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Iowa today completed making its law to the authority of the Big Nine, from which it stands outlawed. Last night the board in control of athletics announced it had banished the athletes who had borrowed from the "Betting fund." Today the athletes were named, fourteen of them, and the suspension of the Hawkeye institution was complete.

Eleven major letter men and three reserves are included in the list of those who erred by making loans from the fund, which was established for athletes during the regime of Dr. Paul Belting. Originally there were 28 in this class, but the others are out of school. The Big Nine faculty men, at their meeting in Chicago last week, decreed the Big Nine fund a violation of conference ethics and on this ground refused Iowa's plea for withdrawal of the order by which it was suspended from membership.

List of Boys Barred.

The boys hit when the Iowa board took its sudden change of heart and its amounts they were:

Mike Parroh, Michigan City, Ind., football, track, 545.
 Mike Parroh, Michigan City, Ind., football, track, 545.
 Lawrence Benson, Michigan City, Ind., football, 525.
 Marvin Schmidt, Moline, Ill., football, 580.
 Mike L. Plunkitt, Frankfurt, Ind., basketball, 525.
 E. L. Wilcox, Fort Madison, track, 515.
 George Boyer, Cedar Rapids, track, 525.
 Edward Lucka, Independence, Mo., basketball, 545.
 Arthur Stewart, Iowa City, swimming, 525.
 Irving Nelson, Omaha, football, basketball, 545.
 Fred Little, Des Moines, swimming, 525.
 Homer Hargrove, St. Louis, basketball, 545.
 Tom Pope, Dubuque, football, track, 525.

Iowa Gives Up Its "Soul."

The house cleaning removed from the list of men eligible for Coach Bill Williams' basketball team four regulars and two reserves. Three of these men also were expected to play on the 1930 football team, among them being Parroh, who last night was elected co-captain. Nelson of Omaha, was a drop kick extraordinary and a basketball forward. Lucka of Independence, Mo., was basketball center and reserve half back in football.

During the Chicago meeting Prof. C. C. Williams, the Hawkeye faculty representative, refused to accept the ultimatum laid down by his colleagues. He held that it was a matter of school policy and that no wrong had been done. His stand was supported by Athletic Director E. H. Lauer, who, in a statement, declared Iowa would not surrender its soul. The athletic board today gave up the "soul" without flinching.

Await Bid to Return.

Iowa now is in the strange position of meeting conference demands and yet is not a member and cannot have athletic relations with what has been a Big Ten to a Big Nine. But the Hawkeye authorities think something may be done about this. They expect, now that they have eliminated evils the conference complained about, to receive an invitation to come back into the fold. If the invitation isn't forthcoming another plea for reinstatement will be filed.

What the Big 9 Faculty Men Say About Iowa Case

"An early hearing for Iowa, if it files notice of another appeal, should be given, in the opinion of Frederic Woodward, University of Chicago vice president and the Midway representative on the Big Ten faculty board.

"In my opinion, Iowa took the right step when it declared ineligible the athletes who had made loans from the Betting fund," said Woodward last night. "Personally, I am in favor of an early hearing for Iowa on a reinstatement plea. Of course, I do not know how other members of the faculty committee feel in the matter."

O. F. Long of Northwestern last night said Iowa's action placed the school in a "favorable light." He anticipated that the conference committee soon will visit Iowa City to review the situation. Mr. Long gave no hint that Iowa might be reinstated before the next faculty meeting in May.

Although Ralph Alger of Michigan would not say it, he seemed to feel that a special meeting of the faculty representatives was likely before May. In his other fifteen years he was unplaced. He was making his eighteenth start of 1929 in the Sunset. In his first seventeen races this year he had never finished in the money.

So the spectators at Jefferson would have nothing to do with him as he paraded the post today. But that made no difference to Step Along. He thought he was a three year old again, for he jumped out in front soon after the start came and stayed there until the mile and seventy yard struggle had ended.

The crowd gasped when the mutual figures were hung out. For Step Along paid $128.50 for every two dollar ticket purchased on him. Only a half dozen people at the track had bet on him. A Negro exercise boy who works for J. H. O'Malley, who now owns Step Along, bet the only ten dollars he had in the world on the seven year old chestnut.

He got back $641.50 and resigned his job with the O'Malley stable immediately.

students who assembled on the campus at a mass meeting tonight, demanding an explanation for the action of the Hawkeye athletic council in declaring 14 athletes ineligible, were assured by Lauer that "as little injustice will be done these men as possible."

Lauer explained to the students that the Big Nine "denied the Iowa plea solely on the basis that the action of the Iowa board in declaring these men eligible was wrong. The faculty committee is the superior court of the conference; we were reversed by the higher court. It was necessary either to accept this decision or to nullify it and secede."

Old Step Along Wins at Last and Pays $128

New Orleans, La., Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Old Step Along, which nearly won the Kentucky Derby in 1925 for Fred M. Grabner of Chicago, found his racing legs for the first time in more than two years at Jefferson Park this afternoon and ran fast enough to win the Sunset purse by a neck from Comet. The favorite, Old Slip, wound up third.

Back in the spring of 1925 Step Along was regarded as one of the outstanding three year olds of the year. He finished a closeup fourth in the Derby and later figured prominently in other rich stakes.

But at the close of the year he lost his desire to win. He was defeated in one race after another. He changed owners a half dozen times. He couldn't beat stake horses and the selling placers began showing him their heels.

Throughout the 1928 campaign he was consistently beaten. He started seventeen times. Twice he was third. In his other fifteen years he was unplaced. He was making his eighteenth start of 1929 in the Sunset. In his first seventeen races this year he had never finished in the money.

So the spectators at Jefferson would have nothing to do with him as he paraded the post today. But that made no difference to Step Along. He thought he was a three year old again, for he jumped out in front soon after the start came and stayed there until the mile and seventy yard struggle had ended.

The crowd gasped when the mutual figures were hung out. For Step Along paid $128.50 for every two dollar ticket purchased on him. Only a half dozen people at the track had bet on him. A Negro exercise boy who works for J. H. O'Malley, who now owns Step Along, bet the only ten dollars he had in the world on the seven year old chestnut.

He got back $641.50 and resigned his job with the O'Malley stable immediately.

Give Him A Lionel Electric Train

Magnificent railroads!—so life-like in color!—realistic in detail and performance—so close to every boy's heart.

The first gift you select for that boy of yours should be a Lionel electric train. Let him enjoy the thrill of model railroading. See the new flashing signals, tunnels, switches, crossing gates, telegraph poles, and all the other accessories that make model railroading so delightful to every boy.

There's only one real model electric railroad—and that's LIONEL! See the new "Distant Control" electric and steam-type locomotives (electrically operated) at your local dealers!

The hog market was forced down $2.00 after a steady opening yesterday, but buyers were unable to obtain many good grades at the lower level.

The extreme top was unchanged at $9.50, while the general average moved down to $8.25, comparing with a top of $9.30 and average of $9.10 last Saturday. Activity was lacking practically all day, with estimates placing the holdover at 9,000, including many held off the market late. The three large packers handled a combined total of 25,000, while small packers and city butchers obtained 13,000 and 5,000.

Receipts Run Lower.

Receipts continue to run below last week, the four day total at eleven markets at 54,000 being 71,000 smaller than a week ago and 70,000 smaller than a year ago.

Light steers and yearlings were in good demand at firm prices yesterday, while anything exceeding 1,000 lbs. in weight had to be peddled on a "catch as catch can" trade.

Fancy baby beef yearlings were absent and the best available topped the market at $12.75, averaging 1,092 lbs. while 1,154 lb averages sold at $12.65, the latter being highest in over a week for the weight. Some prime 1,400 lb steers sold at $14.50, while fat 1,400 lb weighty heaves were bought at $12.75. Some plain 1,300 lb averages had to sell at $11.00.

Cows and heifers were dull at the recent decline, closing $2.00 below a week ago. Calves were unchanged, but compared with a week ago, best kinds were $1.50 to $1.75 lower. Stockers and feeders were unchanged.

Lambs on Upgrade.

Brisk demand for lambs suitable for the Christmas trade boosted the general market 10¢ to 15¢ yesterday. Fancy light natives topped the price list at $12.50, while medium 1,000 lb averages brought $12.25 to $12.50 and extreme weights $11.50 to $12.00.

The first Colorado fed lambs of the season arrived yesterday and sold at $11.00, which compares with $11.75 for the first from that state a year ago when they were marketed Jan. 8, 1928. It is normal for Colorado to start lambs to market about the middle of December.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 2,000 cattle, 8,000 hogs, and 13,000 sheep, against 5,772 cattle, 44,107 hogs, and 12,075 sheep the previous Friday, and 1,941 cattle, 25,245 hogs, and 7,421 sheep a year ago.

BONDS SLUMP IN SYMPATHY WITH STOCK VALUES

New York, Dec. 12.—The listed bonds market was slightly lower today in a market somewhat more active than Wednesday. Government securities were lower in sympathy with stocks, railroad bonds were slightly depressed, industrial and public utilities were dull, and foreign bonds showed few changes of any importance for the day. United States government bonds closed irregular.

American T. & T. convertible 4 1/2% led the convertibles into lower ground, with a drop of 3/4 points. International T. & T. convertible 4 1/2% fell 1/2 points. New Haven convertible 6 1/2% points, and Texas corporation convertible 5 1/2% of a point. All other corporation issues were down fractionally, as was the case with American T. & T. convertible 4 1/2% and Commercial Investment Trust 5 1/2%.

Int'l Tel. & Tel. Earns 1 1/2 Millions for Nine Months

New York, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The International Telephone and Telegraph corporation today reported net income of $1,482,894, or $1.31 a share on 1,148,253 shares. The stock was split three for one last spring.

Announces Postponement of Consol Redemptions

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Secretary Mellon announced today that the 2 per cent consols of 1930, which could be called for redemption on April 1, 1930, would not be called at that date. The consols, which total $299,734,050, are used to secure national bank deposits.

Holiday Spirit Shines from a Christmas Tree

Hard to Imagine the Day Without One.

BY SALLY LUNN.

Part of the traditional fun of the holiday season is the merry fuss and bustle of dressing the house up in festive attire. The Christmas tree, the holly wreaths at the window and over the fireplace, the mistletoe in a strategic position, and red candles here and there all contribute to the gay spirit of the Yuletide. With the great variety of attractive and ingenious materials that are now manufactured for decorative purposes, it is a confusing matter to select the ones you like best, but it is also possible because of the variety to choose an unusual decorative scheme and one that looks best in your particular residence.

Many families have abandoned the large Christmas tree as impractical for small apartments, but hardly anyone feels that home is quite complete without some kind of a Christmas tree, and even a kitchentree can accommodate a little one, either real or artificial, on the dining table.

Centerpiece May Remain.

I think it's a nice idea to include the dining table in the general scheme of decorating the house, whether it is large or small. Set up a holiday centerpiece to stay all through the holiday week. There are hosts of possibilities for arranging such a centerpiece, ranging from elaborate artificial ones to simple real flowers or plants. One woman who takes fastidious and exacting pains to make her home an unusual and artistic place, has a setting of the "Habe in the Manger" which she sets out each year at Christmas time. Tiny figures of the human and animal in a setting of glistening cotton snow revivify the age old picture.

Another housekeeper who is ingenious and talented used a Christmas tree that had been sprayed with white wash until it was completely white, and lit it with myriad small blue lights. The latter idea could be adapted on a small scale for a lovely table decoration. There are charming silk white artificial trees at the florist shops that would be suitable for the purpose, and the electrician of the family can always arrange the lighting cord satisfactorily.

A snowy winter scene can be constructed with a table mirror, edged with cotton and sprigged with tinsel snow, a small tree in the center dripping with tinsel icicles or one at each end and perhaps a small reindeer of white glass or a miniature Santa Claus in his sleigh, gliding over the surface of the pond.

Colorful Decorations.
For those who prefer to take advantage of more color, there are other mediums for decorating. The Swedish Arts and Crafts association has an interesting selection of gay little painted wood candlesticks and figures in bright reds and greens. Wreaths of real laurel leaves or holly or artificial ones of the same are effective laid flat on the table, around the centerpiece or candlesticks.

There are also artificial fruit ornaments, small pyramids of tightly clustered varicolored globes in red flower pots, and long strings of the same that can be fashioned into wreaths or laid straight down the table.

2 FACE HEARING FOR PUBLISHING MISLEADING 'ADS'

New York, Dec. 12.—[Special.]—Robert L. Kester Jr., vice president of the Claude Neon Lights, Inc., who lives in Tuckahoe, N. Y., walked into Tombs court today and surrendered to answer to a charge of inserting misleading advertisements in newspapers.

A warrant for his arrest was issued at the same time as that on which William T. P. Hollingsworth, 69, president of the corporation, was arrested yesterday. Kester asked Magistrate Gottlieb to set a lower bail for him than the $10,000 set for Hollingsworth by Magistrate Simpson. Bail was set at $5,000 and Kester was freed to appear for a hearing with his colleague Wednesday.

The complainant is Charles V. Boh, broker, whose firm which bears his name, is the promoter for Federal Neon System, Inc., a rival concern of the one headed by Hollingsworth. Boh charges that an advertisement in newspapers over the signatures of Hollingsworth and Kester had caused a depreciation of $5,000,000 in the value of the Federal Neon System, Inc.

TO DECORATE THE HOLIDAY TABLE

Here are a few samples of the numerous varieties of small artificial ornaments appropriate for holiday table decorating and now obtainable. At the left is a synthetic pine cone arrangement, gilded and set in a small section of tree trunk. Next, a shiny white little Christmas tree in a pale green glass pot, then a tinsel tree with bright red berries on a gilded stand, and, at the right, a bright red candle, set in a dark green pottery cup, tied with scarlet ribbon and artificial holly. Any of these are effective used in pairs or sets of four, and can be had in varied sizes.

HOUSEHOLD DISCOVERIES

The Tribune will pay $1 each for ideas to housekeeping, prize-winning ideas to be published each Friday morning on the food page. If you have a unique discovery pass it on to other housewives. Recipes are excluded. Send discoveries in care of Sally Lunn, Chicago Tribune.

Last year I bought a package of toy balloons, inflated them and fastened them to the Christmas tree. My youngsters were so delighted that I intend to use several packages this year.

The tiny boxes which contained Christmas tags can be used for ornaments for the Christmas tree. Paste colored pictures on them, and fill them with small, hard candies. They make a delightful surprise for the little tots.
Mrs. C. G. K., Chicago.

To protect my white porcelain table top when using the meat grinder I cut a piece of rubber 4 inches by 4 inches from a discarded inner tube, cutting it so the curve of rubber fits over the table edge. This makes an ideal pad, as it never slips, and protects the table on top and underneath.

I keep a ball of wallpaper cleaner

In a can near the dining room and quickly pick up crumbs with it, when people in the house are sleeping and I can't run the vacuum cleaner.
Mrs. R. C. W.,
Battle Creek, Mich.

Instead of the ordinary asbestos mats under table dummies, try using good sized manila envelopes filled with newspaper, cut exactly to fit, and enough to make safe padding. We use 7 1/2 by 10 1/2 envelopes, and have for several years found them most satisfactory. It is simple to have fresh ones often, and they are not nearly so bulky as the asbestos.
E. W. H., Homewood, Ill.

When making hot dish holders try sewing on each an oblong fastener from a discarded hose supporter, instead of a brass ring. You will find these easier to hang up.
B. G. M., Nilesville, Wis.

After ripping a seam or cutting threads with a razor blade, pick threads out easily with an eyebrow tweezers.
Mrs. T. L., Sterling, Ill.

When absorbent cotton has been packed so tightly that it has lost its fluffiness, I lay it over a warm register or oven and in a short time it expands to its original airy state.

DAWES PREDICTS 100 MILLION WILL VISIT 1933 FAIR

More than 100,000,000 persons will attend the Chicago 1933 Century of Progress exposition, Rufus C. Dawes, president of the fair organization, predicted yesterday. Mr. Dawes spoke before the annual convention of the National Association of Amusement Parks at the Stevens hotel. The amusement men informed Mr. Dawes that they had appointed a group from their organization to act as a World's Fair committee.

"We have every authority to state that the exposition, as we are planning it, will be practical and useful to the whole nation," Mr. Dawes said. "An attendance of 100,000,000 will not, from the comparative standpoint, be as large as the actual crowds attracted to the exposition of 1933."

An invitation to the Chicago fair organization to hold the dairy husbandry exhibits at Elgin was extended last night by Elgin civic groups at a meeting at the Elgin Union league at which Dr. Allen Diehl Albert, assistant to Mr. Dawes, spoke. Dr. Albert, in telling of the exposition, mentioned especially the plans of the fine arts division, of which Chauncey McCormick is the head, to bring some of the world's greatest art treasures to Chicago. The group plans to borrow the outstanding paintings and sculptural work collected in America since the 1893 fair.

World Owes a Great Debt to Louis Pasteur

French Scientist Made Life Easier.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Retinues of scientifically trained, patiently laboring laboratory specialists have been in service for years in the progression of agricultural production of foodstuffs and the preparation of these raw materials into appetizing, health promoting edibles. The part each of these pioneering, exacting fact finders plays in the scientific development of production and protection is hard to estimate. Certain figures stand out as having established primary laws and opened new paths of learning. Of the chemists outstanding in history, Louis Pasteur has perhaps contributed most toward prolonging and making easier the human life.

Work Is More Appreciated.

His achievements, as recorded by R. Valley-Radot, by Holmes or Duclaux or Sedgwick, make fascinating reading, especially since Pasteur the man was so much more than a mere technician and scholar. Being the same to medical and surgical progress and to agricultural development scientifically as Edison has been in the fields of electricity and reproduction, the effect of Pasteur's work is being constantly more appreciated. We can only refer here to a few of his discoveries in the agricultural life of France and their effect in all countries since his day.

Early in his college days Pasteur began to experiment with the causes of fermentation in wines. His intention was to assist the industry as well as the vineyardists around Lille. Augmenting previous discoveries of the presence of yeast as a plant causing fermentation, Pasteur soon found that no yeast need be present in the souring process of milk.

Process Named for Pasteur.
With the perfecting of the microscope he soon discovered the germs or bacteria present in water, air, or milk that were the real cause. In advising the wine makers to heat their liquors to destroy these souring bacteria he performed his first valuable service to producers and to the industry of his country.

The present safeguards of our milk supply, of canned foods, and of many other daily requirements of millions of people have been built on his discovery. For him the heating process that destroys harmful bacteria is called pasteurization. This name had always seemed quite well known until I overheard a woman say the other day that she always insisted upon pasteurized milk because it came from pastured cows and hence was so much better!

Having in the meantime made important findings on contagious diseases, Pasteur was called upon to save the vital silk-worm industry of France from a plague of perbrine, destroying the worms not only of France, but spreading into other countries.

After two years of study he found both a means of starting a new, healthy hatch and another disease caused by a microbe attacking the worm's digestive system. Six years of study resulted in saving this valuable southern France industry.

Vaccination Discovered.

Following the Franco-Prussian war and Pasteur's election to the Academy of Medicine, this recognized scholar now turned to animal diseases. In his years of research on a disease called anthrax in sheep and his findings in the study of chicken cholera, Pasteur overcame prejudice and skepticism, and vaccination for both humans and animals was discovered.

This work, started at the time of our civil war, has taken great strides at the hands of scientists in the comparatively few intervening years. Discoveries were valued in millions of dollars to French prosperity that day, an attempt to measure the value to the world since that measurement.

Only last month some 200 states and national authorities in agriculture met at the call of President David Kinley of the University of Illinois. Regarding the scientific work on fermentation as still in its infancy, these men are considering the commercial possibilities of new products that may come from its application in agricultural fields. The starch of corn, converted by fermentation into alcohol, important commercial byproduct. Other types of fermentation convert the starch and cellulose of corn into butanol, acetone, carbonic acid, hydrogen, and methane.

Writer Offers Culinary Ideas for Unique Gifts

Meats, Jellies, and Fruit
Suggested.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Advice has not been lacking lately to what to get for Christmas for mother and mother, and her daughter and son, and all the nieces and nephews and cousins and the rest. Yes, and lately there has appeared advisory literature telling you what to buy your kitchens for Christmas.

Perhaps you know already, but you are the one who is likely to know best what would fit in most fully. Kitchen Christmas gifts need not be stupid, prosaic things. I have seen many a lovely picture made in France in 1711, the permission of the king's privilege to do so. This picture was among others—a large picture of a handsome paper of lovely little baskets (moules de cuisine), and is of great silver strain, in which the are pierced in lovely patterns of silver and conventional flowers. The handle are four base-level pieces, each with some food suggestion (with the great god Pan and a pretty or graceful goat), and a basket, etc.

You see, there is always something to be for, or to approximate, in the of kitchen equipment. And to young wives in particular love to their homes some Christmas gift. They may sometimes label a package that contains the fine dollies "To My Dearest," which is a turn gives to her a Christmas Provender.

But if anybody is looking for ad in this column they will expect it is about food, whether such wonder as candy canes for the Christmas tree—there is also a "Star" candy of the same complexion, the tartarian bags—orange-shaped in the family initial, to hang on a same tree or for filling boxes for friends. And perhaps if we were allowed to be as capricious or saucy as anybody may sometimes want to be, we would suggest that angel cake and should be provided for the herald angels I am sure we would all like to sing over our roof trees on Christmas eve.

I do not see why this should be impious thought. At any rate, there are all sorts of people to be provided for with gay Christmas cakes, why not angels, too?

Practical Hints.
Meats have lately been fixed up in the loveliest Christmas wrappings and advertised even in the forefront of the many magazines—in fact, that is at where I have seen them advertised, with alluring legends under the pictures of them. Perhaps you have seen these, so here is what is new one, and there are others: these delicious old southern country are sugar cured and hickory smoked. . . . They have the rare,

It Doesn't Cost Much to Have Lovely Hands

Did you know that it was not until the late seventies that even the richest women of this country enjoyed the privilege of a professional manicure? It was at that time that the first professional manicuring parlor was opened and the first manicure set, a crude outfit compared to ours, saw the light of future opulence.

The story goes that a European traveler saw in Paris the few simple tools in use abroad (for how long we have no record). The idea intrigued him into a purchase. She returned to America and was the first to set up in the manicuring business. At first her patrons demanded her appearance for work in their homes, where as a gift to woman she achieved such distinction as to be included in certain of the social deluge.

One can readily picture those old dowerers weighted down with diadems and coronets, grand manners and now outmoded prejudices plucking at their cameo helms with stubby nails, maybe grubby, anyway not the pink tipped almonds enjoyed so generally in our particular era.

For a shiny dollar today one can gather onto her dressing table all the implements necessary to turn a lovely slayer tip. All you need is a small bowl of warm water, a bit of soap, a nail brush, cuticle paste, an orange wood stick, emery board, manicure scissors, a nail file, pumice stone, and nail polish. A string of bleaching nail files we nearly forgot to include, but what manicure is complete without that whitening powder unless it is some good bleaching paste to be worked under each nail with an orange stick?

The manicuring sets are so complete and the operation so simple and so widely practiced it is scarcely necessary to tell about it. But what we would like to remind women to do in connection with their hands is not to concentrate all the devotion on the nails. There's the hand itself that remains younger and better looking for years on end when the practice in established of massaging a good cream into it, or olive oil, or your own tried and found gratifying hand lotion.

Well, Well, Here's Old Mr. Polygamous, or His Twin Brother

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"What do you think of a married man with no children who tells his stenographer, who has worked for him for years, that he loves her and would marry her if anything should happen to his wife?"

It's Blanche inquiring. She explains for our clearer judgment that the man insists he is fond of his wife and has no intention of leaving her, that he wouldn't displease her or any of her relatives for all the world, as they mean so much to him. He takes his wife on all his business trips, no matter how short, brings her flowers on anniversary days and is as devoted as can be to her. Yet, Blanche tells, he feels insulted because his stenographer says she cannot believe that he loves her.

The man must be that Mr. Polygamous that his fellow men have been looking for to explain the awful reputation he's given his sex. He can be none other. Unless he turns out to be the one that really did kill Rothstein. He's a ter-RIB-ble man.

Or, maybe that's just his boyish way of evading the topic of a rise in salary. You never can tell about those boys who fill the ears of their stenos along with their shorthand pads. But will you be kind enough to tell the world, Blanche, how a young woman could hold a job for years with a thinking apparatus that registers so total a blank? With the evidence all there before your eyes, you seek not, neither do you think. How did you get started on the topic, anyway? It's so easy to avoid in the beginning. Just one little squelching and the girl is free to travel her own heart road from there on.

But that reminds us of another little angle about girls in offices provoked, no doubt, by the reading of a serial running currently in a well-known magazine. We're not so terribly concerned with the business girl's morals, if she has 'em, she uses 'em. If she hasn't, she's a loss, anyway. And we'll say in passing that more of them have them than haven't.

But the danger we do sense is in a comparison between the living standard of employer or any of the high paid executives and the standard the average young man of her social acquaintance can promise, to the matrimonial chance detriment of the latter. Think it over, girls, and ask yourself if it is giving the nice young boy who comes accounting a break (or yourself, for that matter) to take your standard from the large-income person you may be working for.

Bryn Mawr College Fund Lecture Tonight

BY THALIA

The scholarship fund of the Bryn Mawr College club of Chicago will present the lecture, "Mental Hazards Over the Ages," Mrs. John T. McCutcheon is to give this evening at the North Shore country day school auditorium in Winnetka. There are several dinner parties before the program, one of them to be given by the James Lawrence Huntington, who will have Mrs. McCutcheon as their guests.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen Haines will arrive in Chicago a week from Saturday for their annual visit to Chicago where they have been for a permanent residence several years ago.

The charms of their penthouse in New York City fail to distract them from their yearly rendezvous with the great portion of society here for a share of several weeks. Their stay is always timed so that Mr. Haines, who is one of the Twelve Knights, can be on hand for the planning and arranging of the annual Twelfth Night ball, as well as for the event last year their visit was marked by Mrs. Haines' serious illness.

The debutantes are spending so little of their waking time at home it's hard to find them on the infrequent occasions when they lunch or dine together. Just as numerous as the large teas and dances are the smaller, more intimate affairs being given daily. Miss Katharine Dudley, the Lawrence Dudley's daughter, is to give a luncheon tomorrow at the Blackstone for Betty Williamson, and Mrs. Phelps Dunham is to have a breakfast at her apartment next Tuesday for a trio of the girls, Henrietta Counties, Phoebe Long, and Rosemary Saur.

Mrs. James M. Hopkins, Mrs. E. I. Gahby, Mrs. Philip L. Reed, and Mrs. James C. Hinchey are among those who have taken groups of seats for a luncheon to be given by Mrs. Gahby at the Goodman theater on Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Wegener of the Ambassador East are to give a luncheon for their daughter, Susan, on Thursday, Dec. 26. As yet, it will be Marion Eckhart, Mary Adams, Ethel Hulbert, Marjorie Perkins, Gwendolyn Bacon, Jean Cooper, and Miss Louise Hauser of Evanston, Ill. Miss Wegener was graduated from Mount Vernon seminary last June and is now attending the University of Chicago. A supper will be given at the Drake will follow the luncheon.

Another one of the college girls to make a bow during the holidays is Miss Marjorie L. Frank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Frank of 354 Lake View avenue, who arrives from Smith college next Wednesday morning.

The Franks are to give a tea dance for her on Dec. 27 at the Fortnightly, followed by a dinner to be given by Mrs. A. A. Newman at the Blackstone, after which the party will attend the Princeton Triangle club performance. The restaurant will include Carolyn Brimlinger, Mary Randolph Matteson, Elizabeth Parker, Eleanor

EVANSTON BRIDE

MRS. CORNELIUS AUSTIN ROSS.

Miss Florence Hinners, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Hinners of Evanston, and Cornelius Austin Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Ross of Boone, Ia., were married on Dec. 4 at the Hinners residence. After a brief honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Ross will reside at the Homestead in Evanston.

Cushman, Gwendolyn Bacon, Marjorie Boerick, Mary Grace Dewes, Kathryn Collins, and Frances Holliday.

Boxholders for the Yale Glee club concert on Dec. 23 at Orchestra hall include Mr. and Mrs. John V. Farwell, Mr. and Mrs. Ezra J. Warner, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hixon, Mr. and Mrs. Valentine C. Bartlett, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Otis Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson L. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. McLennan, Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Madlener, Mr. and Mrs. Shreve C. Badger, Mr. and Mrs. Kent S. Clow, Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Ryerson, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Gross.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Howell of 2708 Lakeview avenue are to arrive from New York City on the 21st and will open their house for the Christmas holidays. Their daughter, Helen, who attends the Finch school in New York, and their son, Tommy, who is at the Frothingham school near Boston, will be with them.

Miss Marcelle Vennema, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Vennema of Winnetka, and Miss Charlotte Eckhart, the Percy B. Eckhart's daughter, who are studying at the Sorbonne in Paris, are to spend the holidays enjoying winter sports at Pontresina, near St. Moritz, Switzerland.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Christopher Little of Kenilworth have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Helen, to Dr. Roy E. Brackin

John Sloan Etchings Modern, American, Sincere, and Able

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

There is at the O'Brien art galleries an extremely complete set of etchings by John Sloan. John Sloan is a modernist and an American. He is one of the most important of the younger artists and he is one of the most sincere and able. So strong is his line, so sure his color, so vital his composition that whether it be a painting or etching, a piece of work by John Sloan carries an inevitable thrill. The O'Brien collection is charged with life. There also may be seen in the gallery a group of studies of dogs. Some of these are humorous, some soberly good, and some, in particular, showing a brace of Russian wolfhounds against a background of snow and feathery plumes, very beautiful.

The art institute announces the opening next week of several one-man shows. The exhibits of works by teachers of the institute art school staff is the first of its kind. Oils, water colors, drawings, commercial art and sculpture will all be illustrated. George Oberbauer will show his three paintings which were recently hung in the Carnegie.

The art school has a famous group of instructors in sculpture, artists who have won world-wide recognition. Their work will be shown. Albin Polasek, Emil Zettler, and Ruth Sherwood are of this group. Edmund Gierebert, Karl Buehr, Laura van Pappelendam, Davenport Griffen, Allen Philbrick, Allen St. John, Charles Wilkerson, F. De Forest Schock, Elmer Forsberg, and Frederic V. Poole, all names of reputation, will make the exhibit of paintings one of the best of the winter.

The second group of exhibits will show sculpture by Georg Kolbe and Numa Pailagang; paintings by Alexander Brook to whom was given the first prize in the recent American show, and Anthony Angarola; drawings by Jose Clemente Osozco, and the drawings from the War Memorial competition.

Holding Christmas Novena. The Rev. Richard Haag, member of the faculty of Mount Carmel college, Niagara Falls, will speak tonight at the Christmas novena services in honor of St. Theresa of Lisieux, the "Little Flower," at her national shrine, 64th street and Woodlawn avenue.

Society at the Opera

The distinction of boxholders to promenade between the acts of the opera is marked this year. There is much visiting between boxes, but a comparative few ventures into the mezzanine for the stroll that used to be so popular in the old Auditorium between the second and third acts. Last night the opera patrons had reading matter with which to occupy their leisure moments. The programs enclosed a leaflet, signed by Samuel Insull, and explaining the elaborate system that has been evolved to alleviate the traffic difficulties. A complicated arrangement of loading stations, a waiting room, three kinds of colored tickets, and extended loading space are offered as temporary relief measures.

Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick occupied her center box in the lower tier last night, with Mr. and Mrs. Laird Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Kirk, and Edwin D. Krenn. Mrs. Potter Palmer's guests in the next box to the right were the Baroness Wrangel, Col. Michael Laszlar, Frederic Clay Bartlett, and the Walter S. Brewsters. The Bernard A. Eckhart box was occupied by Mrs. Charles M. Hewitt, Mr. and Mrs. John LaValley, Mrs. William Lassiter of New York City, and Mrs. Allan M. Clement.

Miss Charlie Pam and Judge Hugo Pam were entertaining Mrs. J. W. Moses, Dr. and Mrs. Jules Pierre of Paris, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Moore, and Mrs. Wirth S. Dunham's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Garland, Miss Jane Dunham, and W. P. Conklin.

Robert F. Carr was acquiring a group of women that included his sister, Mrs. Fred L. Baker, his sister-in-law, Mrs. Walter S. Carr, and three Omaha delegates to the Junior League conference, Mrs. Philip Downs, Mrs. John Reed, and Mrs. Mildred Granger. Col. and Mrs. Horatio B. Hackett, Mr. and Mrs. Alan C. Dixon, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hooper occupied the Burt A. Massee box, and Mr. and Mrs. Morris L. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ayer, and Mr. and Mrs. John A. Chapman occupied another box group.

MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY YEARLY SHOW OPENS; HERE FOR DEC. 20

Ann Arbor, Mich., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—"Marriage-round," 24th annual University of Michigan opera, opened at the Michigan theater here tonight. It will be given at the Chicago Civic Opera house, Dec. 20.

The action takes place on the tropical isle of Costa Rica, in the year 1935, war having been outlasted two years before. The immediate background is an American army post which has been allowed to "go to seed" by the commander, Col. John White of Toledo.

The book for this year's production was written by Donald Hamilton Haines of the journalism department, while E. Mortimer Shuter, connected with Mimes for 14 years, directs the show.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

[Chicago Tribune From Service.] Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—Mrs. Charles Francis Adams, wife of the secretary of the navy left Washington today for her home in Boston. She will go to Portsmouth, N. H., Tuesday, to be sponsor for the V-5 cruiser type submarine to be launched there.

Miss Mabel Boardman who was re-elected secretary of the American Red Cross was hostess at luncheon today in the new memorial building in honor of the women of the world war, built adjacent to the Red Cross building. This was the first function given in the new building. She received her guests in the Canteen room. They included Mrs. William Howard Taft, wife of the chief justice and honorary vice chairman; Mrs. Whitehall Reid, widow of the former American ambassador to England; who is Miss Boardman's house guest; Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, and Mrs. George A. McKinlock, of Chicago.

Marconi Voice Reminds Elmer of Radio's Gain

Chicago Listeners Hear Inventor on Air.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Twenty-eight years ago yesterday, Sen. Guglielmo Marconi, in cabin tower at St. John's, Newfoundland, heard through his receiving phones the faint signals of the telegraph letter "S" as transmitted from Fiddlers, South Cornwall, England. The famous inventor's dream of transatlantic wireless transmission had come true.

Yesterday Sig. Marconi, from a studio in London, celebrated the event by speaking to the entire world. Telephone lines, short wave oceanic transmission, and more telephone lines were brought into play, and finally the listeners in the Chicago area heard Sig. Marconi's voice. The message, broadcast through KTW and WLS from 12:45 to 1 p. m., was brought in as clearly as virtually every word was heard easily. This remarkable achievement made us realize more than ever our indebtedness to the great inventor.

The appearance of Harold Bauer, famous pianist, on the orchestral program of KTW from 9 to 10 p. m. also was a great event in radio. I believe he has not been heard in the radio before, nor do I recall any pianist who would seem to have made a greater impression. The ballet music, with popular feature prominence and with charming effect. The first movement of Beethoven's "Moonlight" sonata, however, was not overimpressive. The Schumann "Novellette" was played as only a pianist could play it.

All of W-G-N's evening programs were of light, pleasing nature, with popular feature numbers and many dance numbers.

W-G-N's 11 o'clock Dream Ship orchestra concert probably was a surprise to the many who listen for the program, for a Bach suite was played. Still another important concert program was that of the University of Chicago choir, broadcast over WLS from 9:30 to 10 p. m.

W-G-N FINDS SON FOR BEREAVED ENGLISH COUPLE

THE TRIBUNE'S public service reached across the Atlantic ocean from London to Chicago last night to unite the only remaining son of an English family with his bereaved parents. The missing son is Charles Butler, an automobile salesman for Cheney & Kimball, 1222 Ridge avenue, Evanston. He was found after a message from his brother in Canada was broadcast over W-G-N. This Tribune's radio station.

Yesterday Mrs. Herbert Browning, Butler's sister, called at the London office of THE TRIBUNE after her parents had received a cablegram from Evanston, Ont., notifying them of the death of their youngest son, T. Butler. The mother, who lost her eldest son during the war, collapsed and is seriously ill, and nothing was known of the whereabouts of Charles Butler, mail addressed to him at his last Chicago address having been returned.

Mrs. Browning asked that a message to Butler be broadcast and the message was cabled to Chicago. A few minutes after it had been broadcast here friends of Butler began calling the radio station and Howard Cheney, his employer, notified him of his brother's death.

SHOOTING BANDITS GET 4000. John Norakowski, owner of a restaurant at 5000 West 23d street, was robbed of $400 yesterday by three men, one of whom carried a shotgun, who threatened him and his customers.
